LINDBERGH PLANS NEW ATLANTIC HOP

Stinson, Haldeman Set New Endurance Flight Mark

FLYERS BRING MONOPLANE TO EARTH AFTER BEING IN AIR 53 HOURS, 37 MINUTES

Pair Aloft from 7:37 A. M. Wednesday, To 1:14 P. M., Today, to Return Record to America

DEAD TIRED AFTER ORDEAL

(By United Press)
JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., March 30.—The Stinson-Detroit monoplanes, which carried Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman to a new endurance flight record, landed at 1:14 p. m., (unofficial time) today. It had been in the air 53 hours 37 minutes—one hour and 14 minutes more than any airplane in sustained flight. The official landing time was 1:14:10 p. m., and the official elapsed time in the air was given out as 53:37:10.

Stinson and Haldeman took off at 7:37 a. m., Wednesday with 550 gallons of gasoline aboard their craft, which they hoped would keep them up for 60 hours. Exceptionally good flying weather favored their flight.

HELD RECORD BEFORE
Eddie Stinson, Detroit airplane manufacturer, who broke the record with Haldeman—Ruth Elder's pilot—held the endurance flight record eight years ago. His mark then was 26 hours.

Return of the record to America follows the failure of Haldeman and Stinson to succeed in an attempt made near Detroit three weeks ago, when ice and snow forced them down.

The monoplanes used was the standard type, developed by Stinson. It is equipped with a 220-horse power Wright whirlwind motor.

Johann Ritzsch and Cornelius Edzard, in the Junkers plane "Europa," previously held the record, having wrested it from Bert Acosta and Clarence Chamberlin.

Five gallons of gasoline were left in the plane.

Stinson crawled out of the cockpit first. He was grimy.

Both were dead tired, their flying clothes oily and their hair disheveled.

Stinson alone would talk. Haldeman got out of the crowd as soon as he could wedge through.

"There is nothing to say," Stinson remarked, "except that we accomplished what we set out to do."

RELEASED
George Remus, millionaire ex-bootleg king, who was released today from the Lima, O., State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. Remus was committed to Lima following his acquittal for the murder of his wife. Remus had pleaded temporary insanity at his murder trial.

GEORGE REMUS IS FREED FROM INSANE ASYLUM

Ohio Wife Slayer Released As Result of Report By Six Alienists

(By United Press)
LIMA, O., March 30.—George Remus, millionaire Cincinnati bootlegger committed to the state hospital for the criminally insane here after he was acquitted for the murder of his wife Imogene, was freed today.

The former king of bootleggers was committed to the asylum on January 6. Almost immediately he began proceedings seeking his release, charging he never was proved insane.

His latest effort was through a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, hearing on which was held several weeks ago.

Six alienists testified Remus was sane, while two others—called by state's attorneys—asserted he was insane.

Three judges ruled on the case, two ordering Remus freed and the third dissenting.

Remus was acquitted of the murder of his wife last December. The verdict made his commitment to Lima mandatory.

VESSEL IN DISTRESS OFF COLUMBIA RIVER

ASTORIA, Ore., March 30.—The K. V. Kruse, a five-masted sailing schooner, was in distress today off the mouth of the Columbia river and in danger of piling up on McKenzie head.

Drifting toward jagged rocks, the vessel appeared to be helpless. A life saving crew and tug have been sent to her aid, but whether they can reach her before she beaches is problematical.

The Kruse is owned in Marshfield, Ore., and is a sister ship of the North Bend, which was wrecked on Peacock spit, near here, in January.

MARCH TAX RETURN BELOW LAST YEAR'S

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Income tax collections for March have fallen below the corresponding period last year, the treasury statement for March 28 revealed today. Collections to March 28 totaled $502,204.04, which compares with $504,614.15 up to March 28, last year.

Income tax receipts had been running ahead of last year's collections until today's statement. Total collections now are expected to be about $510,000,000, which is $6,000,000 below the treasury estimate.

TORTURE DEATH PUTS CHICAGO IN TURMOIL

Court Bailiff Is Wounded In Raid On Saloon

Burning Body, Riddled with Bullets, Found Outside City Limits

(By C. C. NICOLET)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, March 30.—The shooting of a municipal court bailiff by raiding federal prohibition agents and a mysterious gangland torture death threw Chicago's already turbulent pre-primary campaign into renewed disorder today.

William Beatty, 35, bailiff, and a Republican ward leader, was wounded last night during a federal raid on a south side saloon. The shooting climaxed a week of intensive activity on the part of the government prohibition authorities.

Burning Body Found
The bullet-riddled body of a man was found burning in the street several miles south of the city limits early today. Gasoline had been poured over his body and set afire.

A card, bearing the name "Paul Marchese," was found in his clothing. Marchese is the family name of the widow of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, Italian ward leader, who was assassinated last week.

Beatty was said to be a political leader in the 45th ward and supported the Republican faction headed by Mayor William Hale Thompson and State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

He was wounded in the side by a revolver bullet. Hospital physicians said his wound probably would not prove fatal.

Federal Agents Enter
According to Beatty's statement, he had gone to a saloon with his wife prior to attending a political meeting. While there 12 federal agents, under George E. Golding, entered.

Beatty said he saw the men coming and thought it was a holdup. Before he could escape, he said, he was shot.

Golding declared Beatty was shot after he drew a revolver and started shooting at the federal agents.

FOUR KNOWN DEAD IN ALABAMA STORM

ARGO, Ala., March 30.—High winds, which swept over northern Alabama during the night, took a toll of at least four lives and caused injuries to a score of persons.

Clay, Ala., and Argo were the most seriously affected.

The reported dead: Robert Nelson, 55, farmer. Mrs. G. E. Mann, 40, his sister. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Byers. Many towns were isolated by the storm and details of damage were meager. Wires were down through the area.

Nelson and Mrs. Mann, who live on a farm between here and Clay, were killed when their home collapsed in the heavy wind.

The Byers also were caught in the wreckage of their home. Their six children were said to be in a serious condition.

Italian Flies 320 Miles Per Hour; Breaks Record

(By United Press)
VENICE, Italy, March 30.—Maj. Mario De Bernardi of Italy, today broke his own world's speed record when he flew his seaplane at the rate of 320.625 miles an hour. The old record was 296.43 miles an hour.

Major De Bernardi's fastest lap was made at a speed of 350.625 miles an hour, 5 and 5/8 miles a minute.

He flew at the average rate

Col. Charles Lindbergh, American flyer, loved and admired by all nations for his heroic feats in the realm of aviation, is planning to repeat his transatlantic triumph of last year in a new ocean hop. Lindbergh wants to cross the Atlantic to Europe and return over the Pacific.

ARIZONA FILIBUSTER AGAINST BOULDER DAM MEASURE TO BE RENEWED, ASHURST INTIMATES

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—The Arizona filibuster against the John-son Boulder canyon dam will be renewed this session, Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, indicated to the senate today.

"If the senate intends to pass this bill, it had better get an option on some overcoats, because we will be here until the ices of November," Ashurst said.

Ashurst denounced the bill as "the most sinister and adroit attempt in all history to override the constitution of the sovereign state."

"The Boulder dam bill is a heartless, relentless and cunning attempt to deprive Arizona of her rights," Ashurst said.

His remarks were prompted by reading of a letter from the Tennessee road commission, opposing federal exploitation of the Cove Creek power district. Ashurst expressed sympathy with Tennessee.

Disaster No Argument Against Boulder Dam

SACRAMENTO, March 30.—Opponents of the proposed Boulder canyon dam cannot use the St. Francis dam disaster in Southern California as an argument.

Work Scored As 'Coward' By Caraway

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Secretary of Interior Work was called "a coward" by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, on the floor of the senate today.

Caraway said Work had insulted a wounded war veteran, Col. Carl Estes, of Tyler, Texas, who had come to him to protest an interior department report against the proposed Ouichita park, of Texas and Arkansas.

"I'll waive my senatorial privileges if I have any," Caraway said, "in order to meet the secretary anywhere if he resents my charge."

"He took advantage of his position to sit in his office and insult a man whose body is covered with war wounds. His attitude was disgraceful and cowardly, and he is a coward to have done what he did."

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Nominations of O. H. Caldwell, Sam Picard, Harold La Fount and Ira Robinson, as federal radio commissioners, were confirmed today by the senate.

HERO OF AMERICA EXPECTS TO WING HIS WAY ACROSS PACIFIC ON RETURN FLIGHT

Viking Flyer Wants to Visit Principal European Nations and Continue On Over China, Japan

MAY TAKE OFF LATE IN MAY

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1928, By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh intends to try the transatlantic hop again this summer, he has advised army friends here.

He plans to visit most of the countries in Europe and then, if everything breaks well, continue on across Russia, China and Japan, returning across the Pacific.

The flying colonel's air voyage will be another "good will" trip, according to his present plans. He will not attempt to break any records.

Lindbergh has for several months discussed his contemplated flight with military friends and with his backers. He has received advice from many sources and now is seeking further reliable information as to flying conditions and the geography of the European countries he may visit.

TO GERMANY FIRST
The flight probably will start from Hittchell field, New York, with the first leg of the journey ending somewhere in Germany. Lindbergh now is on his way to San Diego, Calif., where a new Ryan monoplanes is waiting for him. This ship, similar to the "Spirit of St. Louis," in which he made his historic trip last May, was built especially for the journey this summer.

According to information available here, Lindbergh will spend three weeks or a month testing his new ship in Southern California. Then he intends to cross the country in easy stages, wait in New York for favorably flying weather and then begin his newest history-making cruise.

Flying across Russia and China may offer unusual complications, not only because of the scarcity of landing fields, but also because of the political situation in Russia and the constant civil warfare in the latter country.

It also is probable that the flyer

HAYS TRIED TO BAR CAMPAIGN INQUIRY, CLAIM

Approached Late Chairman Ladd, of Probe Body, Says Secretary

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—D. H. MacArthur, secretary to the late Chairman Ladd, of the Teapot Dome committee, declared today that Will Hays has made some effort to induce the committee not to go into the $100,000 campaign contribution of Harry Sinclair, oil magnate.

MacArthur said that Hays' efforts were recalled also by former Senator Alva Adams, Democrat, Colorado, member of the investigating committee at the time of Ladd's chairmanship.

MacArthur now is secretary to Chairman Nye, of the committee. Nye commented as follows: "I prefer to say nothing with respect to this. If the information is considered essential to our inquiry, we may want to know more about it."

MacArthur declined to say in

$100,000 Needed For Relief Work In Flood District

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 30.—Relief organizations in the flood stricken regions of northern California today started a campaign to raise $100,000 for assistance of needy victims of the high waters.

Sacramento river, which rose rapidly from 11 feet to 29.5 feet, was receding at a rate of one foot every 24 hours. The American, Yuba and Feather rivers also were falling steadily.

As the river levels dropped, dikes topped with sandbags, stood out like monuments to thousands of men who worked incessantly to maintain them.

Although the threat of further damage is definitely past, scores of persons still were homeless and many were destitute.

Girls Musn't Carry Brass Knuckles

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—Brass knuckles are not ladylike weapons of defense, according to a ruling of Municipal Judge Dudley S. Valentine.

The judge listened to the very plausible explanations of Mary and Helen Murphy, dancing teachers. "We work late and are afraid to go home without some sort of protection," they said.

They were dismissed after the judge informed them it was against the law to possess brass knuckles, which ordinarily are used only by gangsters.

SUBMARINES CRASH; CREWS UNINJURED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 30.—Two submarines, the S-42 and S-25, collided during battle practice off San Diego in the Coronado roads this morning, but both craft were able to return to the harbor under their own power.

None of the personnel was injured.

The accident occurred as the S-42 started to submerge to fire a torpedo and was approximately 26 feet under water.

The S-25, coming from behind a smoke screen, struck the leading rigging on the S-42 and sideswiped the periscope and superstructure.

The S-42 immediately came to the surface and, after an inspection of the damage, both craft returned to port.

Catholic Scout Clubs To Merge Under Fascisti

ROME, March 30.—All surviving Catholic Boy Scout clubs will be merged with the Fascist "Bambini" organization, according to a decree issued today by Premier Mussolini, in following up his statement that young men's organizations still existing outside the sphere of Fascist influence would be absorbed.

The decree seemed the clearest answer Mussolini has yet given the Pope in connection with the church and state controversy recently risen.

may circle through India and Indo China and thus avoid the battle fields of China proper. If this route is chosen, he will most likely try a single hop from Indo China to Japan.

Plans Not Complete
The jump across the Pacific, which has not yet been completely planned by air, is still to be worked out. It is considered likely Lindbergh will take an easy hop to the Philippines first, following this with a jump to the Midway Islands and from there proceed to Hawaii and the American mainland.

This leg unquestionably will be the most hazardous of the trip. The Midway Islands, in particular, offer an obstacle which appears insurmountable. They are small and lack suitable landing fields.

Japan Prepares Welcome
Advices from Tokyo say the Japanese already are preparing a record welcome for the airman. He has been promised a reception there exceeding those given him in France, Belgium and England last summer.

The idea of a round-the-world flight has been in Lindbergh's mind ever since his European stay was cut short early last June. At that time he expressed a desire to continue around the globe or at least to pay calls at all the European capitals.

Lindbergh was dissuaded from this, however, by Ambassador Herrick, in France.

Persons here close to the colonel made it clear he has not definitely committed himself with respect to the exact itinerary of his forthcoming flight, but have said he probably will hop off from a New York field in the last week in May or early in June.

Lindbergh Remains Silent On Plans For Future

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 30.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh insisted today on maintaining his "retired" status and refused to comment on a report from Washington that he planned another transatlantic flight this summer.

Whatever the flyer's plans for the future, he indicated plainly they would not be divulged by him until they had been fully perfected.

Meanwhile, close personal and aeronautical friends of Lindbergh here maintained their recent protecting veil of secrecy and all said they knew nothing of the reported globe-circling flight.

New Monoplane Not To Be Used For Ocean Hop

SAN DIEGO, March 30.—The Ryan brougham monoplane just completed here for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is not the one he will use if he repeats his transatlantic hop next summer, according to the B. F. Mahoney Aircraft corporation, builder of the "Spirit of St. Louis" and the new plane.

The new plane is a strictly stock model, with the exception of special landing lights and an instrument board designed by Lindbergh, himself, Mahoney said, and has a cruising radius of only slightly more than 1000 miles. It was ordered by Lindbergh for short trips around the country.

Fence Around Plane

The plane, which is merely "job 69" to the Mahoney mechanics, has been wheeled to the field, where it awaits its first test flights by J. J. Harrigan, chief pilot for Mahoney, and by Lindbergh, himself. A barbed wire fence has been thrown around the plane to protect it from possible souvenir hunters among the crowds that are inspecting it daily.

Mahoney said today he had received no word regarding Lindbergh's arrival here.

what manner Hays approached Ladd. He would only say "there was something like that."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, suggested in a brief speech to the senate that Martin Littleton, attorney for Sinclair, should retire from the conspiracy case in view of his statement that Sinclair never gave Secretary Fall any Liberty bonds.

"I do not believe Littleton is culpable for his statement," Walsh said. "It appears he merely repeated what his client told him."

"But the question now arises whether it would be ethical for Littleton to withdraw from the case."

Secret Papers Introduced In Fall Deposition

By CHESTER CHOPE

United Press Special Correspondent

EL PASO, Texas, March 30.—Pale and tired, but still eager to tell his story, Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, continued giving his deposition today which is to be used in the Sinclair conspiracy trial in Washington, D. C., on April 4.

He was fatigued after the questioning yesterday afternoon, according to his wife, and barely had finished his breakfast today when attorneys arrived at the home.

Official Washington correspondence of Fall's when he was a cabinet officer and scores of hitherto secret documents are being introduced today, it was reported.

Fall is said to be amplifying the affidavit filed in the District of Columbia court by R. W. Ragland, Sinclair's attorney, which said Fall would testify.

Assented Reluctantly

1.—That he assented reluctantly at the insistence of President Harding to the executive order of May 31, 1921, which paved the way for the lease of Teapot Dome and that the order was promulgated at the request of Secretary of the Navy Denby.

2.—That Dr. E. Foster Bain, director of the bureau of mines, and Arthur W. Ambrose, chief petroleum technologist of the bureau, reported that the Teapot Dome naval reserve was subject to drainage.

3.—That Admiral Robinson, who had charge of the naval reserve, said they must not repeat losses they had sustained in the California reserve.

4.—That Admiral Robinson said that to obtain facilities required by the navy and an advantageous exchange of royalty oil for fuel oil the reserve should be leased as one unit to a company financially able to meet requirements.

5.—That the navy department, and not Fall, prescribed requirements for development of the reserve.

6.—That on Dec. 31, 1921, Harry F. Sinclair and Col. J. W. Zevely, Sinclair's attorney, called at Fall's Three Rivers, N. M., ranch in connection with making deferred payments on Osage Indian leases, purchased by Sinclair Oil and Gas company through the interior department. That Sinclair indicated at that time he would be interested in a lease of the Teapot reserve.

7.—That shortly thereafter Sinclair submitted a proposition and Fall sought to drive as hard a bargain for the government as he could.

8.—That Fall not only obtained for the navy all it required, but insisted on getting for the navy the benefit of the Mid-Continent price on crude oil, which had averaged from 45 to 60 cents a barrel higher than prices paid for crude oil in Wyoming, where the Teapot Dome is located.

No Secrecy In Leasing

9.—That there was no secrecy in the leasing. That Fall discussed the matter with various people and enjoyed secrecy of no one. That such secrecy as existed consisted only in not giving publicity to the navy's plans and that this policy emanated from the navy department and not Fall.

10.—That the later purchase of one-third interest in the Fall Three Rivers Cattle and Land company by Sinclair was not a bribe.

Republicans Battle To Eliminate Oil As Issue

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—

The fight of Republicans to eliminate "oil" as an issue in the presidential campaign will be carried forward until election day, Republican leaders have indicated.

Republican speakers throughout the country are being furnished with information concerning the achievements of the administration to use in convincing voters that the oil scandals should not be permitted to overshadow economic accomplishments of the party.

Broadcast Robinson Speeches

In addition, wide circulation is to be provided for the speeches of Senator Arthur Robinson, of Indiana, who has charged directly and inferentially that the Democratic oil record is as "greasy" as that of his own party.

Democrats are becoming concerned over the situation for fear they may lose what they considered their best issue for the coming campaign.

When the Teapot Dome committee discovered that Harry Sinclair, indicted oil magnate, made a $260,000 campaign advance to Will Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, Democrats found a visible ray of encouragement. They believed the issue might be made more important than it was in 1924 in view of the recent discoveries linking more Republican names with the disclosures.

Smith Made Target

Robinson has picked out the foremost Democratic candidate, Gov. Al Smith, of New York, and is planning to keep before the senate, until adjournment, the fact that Smith appointed Sinclair a member of the New York state racing commission.

In addition, Robinson is trying to show that Senator Walsh, of Montana, another Democratic candidate and the instigator of the Teapot Dome scandals, sponsored legislation which encouraged the subsequent Republican administration to make the Teapot Dome lease.

Walsh contends Robinson's charges are "frivolous."

Girl Names Dead Mexican General Father Of Child

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—Charges that Francisco Armando Mexia, 3, orphaned by the death of his mother here, is the son of Gen. Francisco R. Serrano, victim of a Mexican firing squad, were made in papers on file in court today.

A letter filed as part of the will of Graziella Mexia, and written in 1924 when she was 19, told her mother of the approaching birth of a child and named Serrano as the father.

Miss Mexia's body has been held for about two months in a morgue and will be shipped to Mexico City for burial.

TORTURE DEATH PUTS CHICAGO IN NEW UPROAR

A sweeping "cleanup" of Chicago prohibition forces began today, throwing fresh confusion into a scene already made turbulent by bombings, death threats and a bitter political feud.

Information gathered by a special force of investigators from Washington led a federal grand jury to indict nine prohibition agents of the Chicago unit on extortion and bribery.

More Indictments Expected

It was understood that indictments against other dry agents and enforcement officials would be sought and that an organized drive would be made on dozens of beer and alcohol runners and leaders of the city's numerous "liquor rackets."

The new drive marked the first major cleanup in the Chicago prohibition force since its organization. The federal investigators reported to the grand jury that they had found conditions here "indescribable."

YOUNG COLORADO SLAYERS HANGED

CANON CITY, Colo., March 30.—Raymond Noakes, 23, and Arthur Osborn, 24, cousins, were hanged at the state penitentiary today for the murder of Fred N. Selak, "hermit of Grand Lake."

Noakes was the first to go to the gallows. He was pronounced dead 13 minutes later.

Osborn was placed on the gallows at 1:15 a. m. The prison physician pronounced him dead 15 minutes later.

Under Colorado statutes, all details of the execution were suppressed and witnesses were sworn to secrecy.

Guards, however, said the two laughed and joked with them and that they slept well every night this week.

Although not confirmed, it was believed Colorado's mechanical gallows again were brought into use. These gallows work automatically and the doomed man in reality sends himself to death.

PERRY COEN MUST HANG FOR MURDERS

HANFORD, Calif., March 30.—Perry Allen Coen, crowbar slayer, must hang.

The same jury that convicted him of first degree murder for slaying the parents of his 16-year-old sweetheart decided at 10:40 a. m., today, that Coen was sane when he committed the crime.

The jury reached its verdict after deliberating since 5:15 a. m., yesterday, on Coen's plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity." The decision confirms the earlier conviction and leaves Superior Judge Kenneth Van Zante with no alternative but to impose the death sentence.

Coen remained calm when the jury returned with the verdict.

for as an example in their arguments, Gov. C. C. Young, of California, said here today.

The Boulder dam would be on foundation which is 16 times as strong as the basis of the St. Francis structure and would be one of the most solid and secure structures of its kind in the world, the governor said.

In a telegram to Congressman Phil D. Swing, in Washington, D. C., the governor said:

"The report of the commission investigating the St. Francis dam disaster attributes the failure of the dam entirely to its foundation, which was of such a nature that even when dry its strength was less than required for safety and when wet became soft and earthy."

"I have positive assurance from A. J. Wiley, chairman of the commission, and of Dr. F. L. Ransome, professor of economic geology in California Technical Institute, who also is a member of the commission, both of whom have examined the Boulder and Black canyon dam sites, that the bedrock there is so sound, hard and durable and so different from the very soft foundation of the St. Francis dam, that the failure of the St. Francis dam need cause no apprehension whatever for the safety of the proposed Boulder dam."

MARY TO RECEIVE BULK OF ESTATE

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—Mary Pickford, whose success on the screen largely accounted for the estate which her mother accumulated, was bequeathed the bulk of the fortune left by Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, according to a will which was on file today for probate in superior court.

Mrs. Pickford, who died March 21, left an estate worth in excess of $1,000,000.

"Whatever property I possess at the time of my death has come to me through my association with my beloved daughter, in her business and through her most unusual generosity to me," the will read.

HUNTRESS SHOOTS WEALTHY HUSBAND

NEW YORK, March 30.—Mrs. Esther Wilson, lion hunter and Washington society woman, who shot her wealthy husband with a .32 caliber revolver in his private law office, was led back to a dingy cell in Jefferson market jail today to await the results of her husband's wounds.

If Dallett Wilson dies, she will be brought before homicide court. If he gets well, as physicians believe he will, Mrs. Wilson will be given another hearing on a charge of felonious assault.

MAJOR COMPANY IN NEW PLAY AT YOST

The opening performance of "The Whole Town's Talking" was presented by the Robert W. Major Players to a large and enthusiastic audience last night at the Yost Spurgeon theater and will be repeated tonight Saturday and Sunday with a matinee Saturday.

From beginning to end the play was a cyclone of laughter with the lion's share of honors going to Eugene Parker, who played the role of Chester Binney, the timid bookkeeper who got himself into all kinds of trouble when he tried to create a lurid past for himself in order to win the girl of his choice. Miss Bea Fisher made a winsome co-star for Parker as Ethel Simmons, daughter of Binney's partner, and incidentally did some splendid acting.

As Letty Lythe, the motion picture star, Binney picked the girl with whom he had had an affair, Miss Ruth Mason gave a convincing and clever characterization, while Miss Grace McCall as Harriet Simmons the mother, kept the audience laughing with her clever sallies. Some excellent work was done by Frank Rasmussen in the role of Henry Simmons, Binney's partner as did also Guy Wilkerson as the motion picture director. Others who handled their roles well were Liam Lally as the young multimillionaire; Romania Pratt as the maid, and Gretchen Hollan as Sadie Bloom, "Dad" Simmons' lady friend.

MESA MAN DECLARES LOCAL FREIGHT RATES INTO HIS TOWN ARE DISCRIMINATORY

The differential in freight rates on cement between shipping point and Santa Ana and shipping point and Costa Mesa, is adding materially to the expense of paving work in the latter district, according to a declaration today by R. G. Chambers of the community to the south.

Chambers and others of the community today were making investigations with a view to taking some action that may result in a change of the situation.

The situation has been impressed on residents by the revelation of the fact that the commodity used in work in progress at Costa Mesa is being shipped to Aliso, on the Santa Fe system, and transported by truck to the job.

According to Chambers, the contractor has asserted that it costs him less for transportation under this method than it would to have the product shipped direct to Costa Mesa on the Southern Pacific branch to Newport Beach.

Investigations have revealed that the rate on cement from Colton to Aliso on either the Santa Fe or Southern Pacific are identical, 7 1-2 cents per 100 pounds, while the rate from Colton to Costa Mesa is 11 1-2 cents, a difference of approximately 4 cents a bag, for a sack of cement weighs 95 pounds.

W. J. Drand is the contractor engaged in paving Harper street from Newport boulevard to Tustin street, a distance of four blocks. Chambers is authority for the statement that Drand will use in his contract 20,000 bags of cement, which, at 4 cents a bag additional freight as between Santa Ana and Costa Mesa, means that the contractor had to figure his price $800 higher than he would have had to do had the freight rate to Santa Ana prevailed at the point of consumption.

With discovery of what Chambers declares is a direct discrimination in freight rates against the community on cement, Chambers and others will pursue their investigation to ascertain whether other commodities carry the same proportionate differential.

It was learned here today that freight originating in Los Angeles carried the same freight rate between Los Angeles and Aliso as obtains between the metropolis and Newport Beach.

A local representative of one of the steam rail lines today pointed out that on through freight from the east, the rate is the same to Santa Ana and Costa Mesa as to Los Angeles. He said, however, that on local freights there is a differential between communities on the same line, an instance being an added rate on cement of 3 cents from Santa Ana to Paulmarino and 4 cents to Costa Mesa.

The railroad representatives here also declared that the rate would apply to the enlarged unity as the boundaries were pressed out through annexation.

At Spurgeon street the caravan was to turn north to Sixth street, swinging back to Main street, south to Second street and back to the park.

COLLEGE STUDENT IN NEED OF ROOM
The price of education comes high!

At the Santa Ana Junior college is a young man who is working hard and making very good grades. He is deeply interested in his studies and in other college activities.

To have at least two years of college education has long been the ambition of this young man, according to George B. Holmes, vocational director at the college.

His ambition, however, will never be realized unless it is made possible for him to find a place where he can work for a room. He would prefer to work for both room and board but if he finds a place where he can earn his room it will be possible for him to remain in school.

Any Santa Anan who will offer the boy a position until the end of the school year is requested to notify Holmes at 880M.

DOCTORS ADJUDGE PRISONER AS SANE

Following a hearing participated in by Dr. R. A. Cushman, Santa Ana, and Dr. Harry E. Zaiser, director of the Orange county hospital, Forrest G. Owen was adjudged sane today and was required to enter his plea to a charge of issuing fictitious checks.

He pleaded guilty in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court and requested probation through his attorney, Franklin G. West. He was arraigned on an information filed by Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett.

When Owen was haled into court last week, a sanity hearing was requested, which resulted today in his being adjudged mentally normal. The probation hearing will take place next Friday at 9:30 a. m.

GRANTS PROBATION IN LIQUOR CASE

After questioning of half a dozen witnesses by Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett and C. N. Moxley today, Superior Judge James L. Allen granted probation to L. E. Lopez, who recently pleaded guilty to selling liquor.

The group of people who took the stand gave Lopez a reputation of being a law abiding citizen, although one or two, under questioning by Blodgett, seemed to have difficulty in reconciling this reputation with Lopez' plea of guilty to the liquor accusation.

Three trials were given to the defendant, in all of which the juries disagreed, before Lopez finally decided to admit his guilt. Judge Allen suspended pronouncement of judgment for six months.

Court Notes

Divorce Asked
Kitty T. Mitcham deserted her husband, Alfred T. Mitcham, in 1924, and has been living with another man, George McKenney, in San Diego, according to a divorce complaint filed by Mitcham today. They were married in 1921 in Bakersfield and the separation occurred in Taft, in 1924, the complaint stated.

Suit to Foreclose
Bringing suit to foreclose a mortgage Frank C. Criswell filed a complaint today against Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hileman. The plaintiff alleged that the mortgage was given to secure a promissory note for $5000 made in 1921, on which default has been made in payments.

Women Win Out
Women had it all their own way in the divorce court when Luella Powelson was granted an interlocutory decree from Straud Fowelson. When the plaintiff took the stand she was represented by a woman lawyer, Elsie M. Farris, Long Beach. The only witness in the case was a woman and most of the spectators were of the fair sex.

NEWPORT BEACH COMMITTEE SAYS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL WILL NOT MEET ALL NEEDS

NEWPORT BEACH, March 30.—The following statement was issued today by members of the Newport Beach high school committee, after consulting with members of the Costa Mesa committee:

The report of the two educational surveyors employed by the Santa Ana High School board, and that part of their recommendations relating to high school facilities in the Newport Harbor district are absolutely unsatisfactory to the Harbor district, and leaders in the move to organize a Harbor High School district were today up in arms over the reported proposals.

According to a report in a Santa Ana paper, Wednesday, which was confirmed over the telephone by J. A. Cranston, superintendent of Santa Ana schools, the two surveyors, Dr. W. S. Ford and Dr. O. S. Hull, have recommended that a junior high school at Costa Mesa is the extent of the high school needs of the entire harbor district at the present time.

Nothing less than a senior high school would satisfy the people of the harbor district, if indeed, that would, as they are endeavoring to draw away from the Santa Ana high school district and form their own district.

One junior high school for the whole district would place the harbor district not in a better position at present, but much worse, from at least one standpoint; inasmuch, as it would be more difficult than ever to withdraw from the Santa Ana district.

At present steps have already been taken by a majority of the heads of families of Newport Beach and Costa Mesa elementary school districts to form their own district, but it is claimed that because Santa Ana is a city and not a union high school district, there is no way at present of forming a new district.

Should a junior high school building be erected in Costa Mesa, however, it would prevent a new district being formed, even if the Santa Ana district were a union district. The simple building of a junior high school, no matter how inadequate, would keep the district in Santa Ana forever, under the present law, which provides that no part of a district withdrawing from even a union high school district may be within two and a half miles of a high school building.

In other words, even if 500 students of high school age lived in this district, and a junior high school accommodating only 100 students, for example, were built, the people here could not organize their own high school district simply because they would be within two and a half miles of a high school building.

At a meeting held here recently, Dr. Ford and Dr. Hull gave the impression that the people of the harbor district interested in the high school question would be informed when their report was ready. So far neither the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce nor the Costa Mesa chamber, which were the public bodies which took this matter up, have been notified.

Yet, the two educational experts have been meeting with a Santa Ana chamber of commerce committee, and with Santa Ana school authorities, Newport Beach and Costa Mesa are part of the Santa Ana high school district and pay taxes to it, yet they have not been consulted.

According to statements of both Newport Beach and Costa Mesa people today, the report was just what was expected, and what Mr. Cranston at the Newport Beach city hall meeting said he favored. As far as the harbor district is concerned, the report might as well have been made by Mr. Cranston and other Santa Ana people, without the expense entailed in the employment of the two surveyors. The recommendations, insofar as the harbor district is concerned, are what Mr. Cranston already favored.

The mere fact that the same recommendations are now made by these two men is no reason why the people of the harbor district should change their minds, as they have been opposed to any such program all along. The two surveyors and officials of the Santa Ana high school district have been told so rather plainly.

BURGARS BREAK IN R. WOLLENMAN HOME

Burglars who entered the home of R. Wollenman, East Cerritos avenue, near Placentia avenue, some time last night, while members of the family were away from home, took a sample of most everything they could find in the house, according to a report filed this morning at the sheriff's office.

Entrance into the house was made after a bedroom window had been forced.

Some of the articles reported as stolen were two sweaters, a pair of trousers, a hat, pair of bedroom slippers, five pairs of women's hose, a dress, tablecloth, four sheets, five pair of bloomers, a watch, several lodge pins a mirror and part of a toilet set.

Deputy Sheriff L. A. Stewart is conducting an investigation today.

JURY DECIDES DEATH IS DUE TO ACCIDENT

David A. Cox, 29, ranch hand on the Mary Jeffrey ranch at Irvine, came to his death in an automobile accident in an accidental manner, according to a verdict returned by a coroner's jury after an inquest over the body at the Winbiger Mission funeral home this morning.

Cox was instantly killed late Tuesday night when the automobile in which he was riding collided head-on with an automobile driven by N. G. Sawaya, Los Angeles, four miles south of Irvine station, on the San Diego highway. Sawaya was seriously injured.

He is at the Santa Ana Valley hospital suffering from internal injuries and several broken ribs. Funeral services for Cox will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow, at the Winbiger chapel. The Santa Ana post, American Legion, likely will hold special services at the grave in the Santa Ana cemetery, it was said. Cox was an ex-service man discharged as a sergeant at the Presidio at the close of the war, according to a discharge found in the pocket of his coat at the time he was killed.

He had been employed a short time on the Jeffrey ranch and had gone to San Diego the day before the accident. It is believed that he was returning here at the time he was killed.

CITY COUNCIL IN L. A. TAKES UP LOAN PLAN

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—The Los Angeles city council was expected to pass on a special ordinance today authorizing the water and power bureau to negotiate with bankers for a loan of up to $2,600,000 for rehabilitation in the St. Francis dam flood area.

This was one step in the plan of the city to put a complete program for financing reconstruction in the devastated area before the Los Angeles Clearing House association at its Monday meeting.

At a meeting with city officials and bankers for a preliminary discussion of the situation, the city's attitude was outlined by R. F. Del Valle, president of the board of water and power commissioners, who said it was the purpose of the water bureau to meet the entire financial obligations involved in the St. Francis dam disaster.

W. B. Mathews, special counsel for the commission, said that a fund of millions of dollars was needed immediately for relief work.

A city charter provision will permit the borrowing on short term notes of not to exceed one-third of the water and power department's revenues for the preceding year, which would permit the loaning of approximately $2,600,000.

Negotiation of the loan will hinge on a supreme court ruling which is now being sought to approve a special election for a bond issue to cover the loans.

It also is proposed to effect gradual increases in the water rates to cover part of the huge damage bill resulting from the floods.

The water and power bureau already is drawing up plans for replacing the St. Francis dam, according to H. A. Van Norman, assistant chief engineer. "Unless the reservoir is replaced, Los Angeles will be threatened with a water shortage," he said. "Immediate action is necessary. The cost of reconstruction will be at least $2,000,000."

No decision has been made as to whether another dam will be placed in San Francisco canyon. Experts testified yesterday at the coroner's inquest that a dam might be built several hundred feet below the old site of the dam with safety, if such a structure was properly anchored.

The coroner's inquiry into the disaster was expected to close Monday with the submission of a report of three engineers selected by the water and power commission to investigate the failure. The inquest was not in session today.

HARRY HALE OF PLACENTIA IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATED CHAMBER BODY

Election of officers, annual reports by committee chairmen and a lengthy discussion on county planning featured the annual meeting of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce held last night at St. Ann's inn.

H. H. Hale, veteran citrus grower and water conservation champion of Placentia, was chosen to head the county organization for the next twelve months. His election was anticipated by reason of the fact that the chambers have adopted the plan of stepping the vice president into the "hot chair" each year. Hale served a year as vice president. Lotus Louden, publisher of the Anaheim Herald, was elected vice president, and George Macleod, of Balboa, was named secretary to succeed George Raymer, who has held the position for four years and who asked relief from duties of the office.

The report of Harry D. Riley, chairman of the committee on county planning, revealed that the committee last June ceased to function actively because of an opinion expressed by a Los Angeles judge to the effect that the law providing authority for institution of a county planning commission was defective.

To Make Probe

The body directed the committee to make an investigation and ascertain the status of the law and to secure co-operation of other counties in the state in concerted effort to have a bill passed at the next session of the legislature that would make creation of such a body legal and that would clothe it with authority to execute plans that may be adopted.

Comments by J. F. Burke, editor of The Register, on the report by Riley and remarks suggesting a corporate body including the whole county, with individual units as represented by cities, for solidification of all parts of the county on major projects of vital importance to the county, precipitated a lengthy discussion on county planning and county unity.

Burke pointed to the possibility of the next 10 or 20 years seeing developments in Orange county that would make the district larger and water conservation champion of Placentia, was chosen to head the county organization for the next twelve months. His election was anticipated by reason of the fact that the chambers have adopted the plan of stepping the vice president into the "hot chair" each year. Hale served a year as vice president. Lotus Louden, publisher of the Anaheim Herald, was elected vice president, and George Macleod, of Balboa, was named secretary to succeed George Raymer, who has held the position for four years and who asked relief from duties of the office.

The editor particularly emphasized the necessity for development of a water supply that would meet the demands of an urban population, and commented on the need of capitalizing on the assets represented by Orange county's potential harbor at Newport Beach.

Wahlberg Reports

Perhaps one of the best reports by committee chairman was that submitted in written form by H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, who was unable to be present. The chairman reviewed the agricultural success of the year, quoting figures as to production that have been printed frequently, and mentioning possibilities of the future. George Kellogg, of Yorba Linda, a member of the committee, gave, verbally, what he called the other side of the picture, and directed attention to conditions obtaining in the lemon industry. Kellogg stressed the necessity for greater attention to citrus fruits that have resulted in recent seasons from desert winds and asserting that in some locations the damage is 25 per cent annually.

Other reports were made by W. J. Carmichael, special industrial committee, supplemented by a report by Raymer on his recent trip to Washington and Akron in the interest of development of industries for Santa Ana and vicinity; Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, advertising; Lew H. Wallace, harbor, who announced plans for celebrating at Newport Beach completion of jetty work now under way; H. H. Hale, water conservation; Tom Pickering for Ralph McFadden, junior college; and B. E. Morthland, county airport.

Near conclusion of the meeting V. D. Johnson, secretary of the chamber at Orange, expressed appreciation of the organization of the painstaking work during the past year of President J. P. Greeley, and for four years of Secretary Raymer. A rising vote of thanks was given the retiring officers.

ATTORNEY ARRESTED ON TRAFFIC CHARGE

R. L. Hall, Santa Ana attorney, was lodged in the county jail early last night, after the automobile he was said to have been driving collided with a machine owned by W. J. Small, 909 South Main street, near Washington avenue and Main street.

The Small car was parked at the curbing at the time it was struck, and was knocked up on the sidewalk.

Hall was booked at the jail on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, and a charge of reckless driving will be lodged against him today, it was said. He is expected to be given a hearing before Judge J. F. Talbot, in police court.

AVERAGE AGE OF HIGH U. S. JUDGES IS 67

By HERBERT LITTLE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 30.—People who believe age impairs the faculties are shocked when they look over the United States supreme court in the capitol here.

Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, 87 years old, the senior in both age and service of the nine black-robed justices, is known as having one of the keenest minds. The junior justice, Harlan Fiske Stone, is a "youngster" of 55.

The average of the ages of the justices is more than 67 years, and there has been no replacement on the bench for three years now. Slight illnesses occasionally remove a justice from work for a few days or weeks.

Some connection between justice and longevity is shown by the fact that there have been only 10 chief justices since the court was established under the first constitution in 1789.

One of the most famous of these 10, Chief Justice John Marshall, set a record of 34 years on the high court, which has not been surpassed since, although three associate justices, Joseph Story, Stephen J. Field and John M. Harlan, also served 34 years each.

Justice Holmes, thrice-wounded Civil War veteran, has served on supreme courts for 45 years, although his 25th year on the United States supreme court was completed just a few weeks ago. Before his appointment by President Roosevelt, Holmes served for 20 years on the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts.

The present age of the justices now, in order of their seniority on the court, are as follows:

Chief Justice Taft, 70; Tolmes, 87; Willis Van Devanter, nearly 88; James Clark McReynolds, 66; Louis Dembitz Brandeis, 71; George Sutherland, 66; Pierce Butler, 62; Edward Terry Sanford, 62; and Harlan Fiske Stone, 55.

Justice Stone is the only Coolidge appointee on the court. He replaced the late Justice McKenna, who resigned because of ill-health, early in 1925. Four justices, Taft, Sutherland, Butler and Sanford, were appointed by the late President Harding, and Justice Van Devanter was appointed by Taft himself when the latter was president.

Two justices remain of those appointed by President Wilson. They are Justices McReynolds, the only bachelor on the court, and Brandeis, whose appointment caused much comment in 1916 because he was a Jew.

These leaders of national legal thought live more quietly than any other part of officialdom. They work hard on their cases, in their offices, at home and in the court room and chambers in the senate wing of the capitol. They mingle socially sometimes with other officials, and the president each winter gives a judicial reception at which they are the guests of honor.

But they avoid all entanglement with the political issues upon which the rest of Washington lives, rarely speak for publication on any subject, and direct themselves strictly to business. Even on their four-month June-to-October vacations, they read law and work on their decisions on pending cases.

BREA

BREA, March 30.—Mrs. Grace Reed, teacher in the commercial department of the Brea-Olinda union high school, has returned to her home here after two weeks spent in Fullerton. Mrs. Reed is much improved but it is not certain when she will be able to return to her classes. Her illness was caused by poisoning following the extraction of a tooth.

Mrs. Leora Cumings, representing the Legion auxiliary of Brea, and one of the principal assistants at the mothers' educational clinic, announces that the next meeting of the clinic will be in the Laurel grammar school building on the afternoon of April 5.

A dance and card party sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of Brea, is being given in Craig hall tomorrow night, according to Mrs. Kathleen Burns, general chairman. Mrs. Beatrice Livingston will be in charge of the card party and both bridge and "500" will be played.

U. S. PAYS SHARE OF LEAGUE'S WORK

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Correspondent)

GENEVA, March 30.—The United States can no longer be accused of participating in all League of Nations' activities except that of paying her share for maintenance of the league.

While the United States does not pay any fixed annual quota as do all of the states that are members of the league, she has made it known that it is her intention to pay her share of the costs of all league conferences and commissions in which she chooses to participate.

Her recent payment of approximately $17,000 for her part in various league activities of 1927 is the largest payment of the kind she has made to date.

This covered her share of the cost for the league's international conference of last May; the third General Transit Conference of last August, the October conference for the abolition of export and import restrictions, and the four 1927 sessions of the League's preparatory disarmament commission.

The payment was made at the suggestion of the United States itself based on figures prepared by the secretariat showing just how much the holding of these conferences and commissions cost each member of the league.

As a matter of fact the United States already had established this precedent at other league conferences in which she had participated.

For the league's opium conference in 1925, the American delegation paid roughly $2,900 as its share of the expenses, while for the 1925 conference on the traffic in arms a similar payment of $2700 was made.

Aside from these payments by the United States government, private contributions to league activities from American sources reach into the millions of dollars.

Denver, Colo.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and will take more. I am taking it as a tonic to help me through the Change of Life and I am telling many of my friends to take it as I found nothing before this to help me. I had so many bad feelings at night that I could not sleep and for two years I was afraid of falling. 41 STATES IN U. S. FREE FROM 1927 LYNCHINGS

NEW YORK, March 30.—Forty-one states were free from lynching during 1927, states the roll of honor prepared by the Federal Council of churches through its commission on race relations. The 16 lynchings which occurred last year took place in seven states. The number of victims was 14 less than in 1926, one less than in 1925, and the same number as in 1924.

The high mark of states free from mob violence was reached last year. In 1926 there were 38 states without a lynching; in 1925 there were 38; in 1924 there were 38, and in 1923 there were 39.

Georgia and Florida for the first time since records have been kept now appear on the roll of honor. Connecticut has been added to the list of states that never had a lynching because recent investigations of the commission on race relations indicate that a case in 1886 recorded as a lynching, probably was a suicide of a murderer hunted by a posse and not a lynching.

All except one of the seven states that had lynchings in 1927 have been on the honor roll at least for one year since 1925. Now only one state in the country has an unbroken yearly record of the crime of mob murder.

"The gain in territory free from mob murder is to be attributed, I believe, to the pressure of public opinion, which has been greatly stimulated by the white and negro newspapers of the nation," Dr. George E. Haynes, secretary of the commission, said in commenting on the roll of honor. "It is significant that 10 of the 16 lynchings last year occurred in two states in the Mississippi valley. The pressure of public opinion against mob violence should continue and increase until every person in America regardless of race or color, is safe and secure in any state."

Speaking of the prevention of lynching, Dr. Haynes said: "There were 42 instances in 1927, according to Prof. Monroe N. Work of Tuskegee institute, in which officers of the law prevented lynchings, eight of them in northern states and 34 in southern states. The commission on interracial cooperation has designed and is awarding to officers of the law a medal for prevention of lynching. Five such medals were given to officers in Tulsa in 1926 and two were given in Florida, two in Louisiana and one in Kentucky in 1927. Virginia, through the leadership of Governor Byrd, has just enacted a law making lynching an offense to be prosecuted by the attorney general and other prosecutors designated by the governor in addition to local authorities."

A Column of News and Views of Santa Ana People Conducted by Mair Hardware

Some people are so progressive that they do not wait for April 1st to make fools of themselves.

You don't take your shoes to a doctor. If you need to have them half soled and you never go to a blacksmith to get yourself cured of a cold.

Now you may not be sick or shoeless, and we couldn't help much if you were, but when it comes to good hardware, you bet that's just what we're for.

And speaking of April Fool, we once knew a small boy on a farm who was grinding up horse-radish roots for his mother. He saved the juice which was thick and white and put it in the cream pitcher the next morning. "Dad used it in his coffee."

SAME WITH A "COLTUM"
A newspaper is known by what it prints and liked by many for what it doesn't print.

Mr. and Mrs. Delos Patterson of West Santa Ana purchased a dandy gasoline Coleman Cooker Range a few days ago.

Superintendent of schools says, "One life saved in front of the school house is worth two in the ambulance." Drive slowly past the schools and look both ways for children.

We received an interesting letter from C. H. Travis and Sons of East Stroudsburg, Penn., requesting permission to use the caption of this column, Keg o'Nails, in their advertising.

BACK SEAT FOR SCULPTURE

Myron, sculptor of the 5th century B. C., sought in his famous Discobolus statue of the ancient Greek discus-thrower to express an ideal conception of human grace and beauty of form. He succeeded well, but wouldn't you say that in this pose Prunella Stack of Holland Park Health School, London, succeeds a little better?

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, March 30—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baxter entertained as Sunday guests Mr. Baxter's mother, Mrs. May E. Baxter, and sister, Miss Ella Baxter, of Eagle Rock, and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baxter, of La Habra.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Marzerman, of the west of town section are the parents of a little daughter, whom they have named Elaine Margaret.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Hodges and young son, of Riverside, were guests Sunday of Mrs. Hodges' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Arnette, and the two families motored to Laguna Beach as guests of relatives.

The Misses Marion and Nellie Morris have been visitors in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris, going from here to Los Angeles, where Miss Nellie is a student. Miss Marian who has been in school in Long Beach, is this week entering a Hill street business college.

Mrs. E. A. Winn, of Santa Ana, mother of Mrs. Percy Lawrence, was the dinner guest one day this week in the Lawrence home.

Miss Frances Heaton, of Orange, was an overnight guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Spencer, and Mrs. Sarah Spencer and L. D. Spencer, mother and brother of Mr. Spencer, joined the family from Whittier as dinner guests.

A tableau, "The Beginning of the Work," was presented Thursday afternoon at the meeting in Anaheim by women of the Presbyterian Missionary society of Westminster. Those taking part were garbed in costume dating back to half a century ago.

Taking part were Mrs. O. B. Byram, Mrs. J. A. Murdy, Mrs. Wells McCoy, Mrs. J. L. Edward, Mrs. L. E. Barry, Mrs. Thomas Hosack and Mrs. Roy A. Weld. Attending the first day of the convention were Mrs. O. B. Byram, Mrs. R. A. Weld, Mrs. F. J. Grady and Mrs. J. A. Murdy.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry West entertained at dinner Wednesday evening, Mrs. Ray White and two sons, of Long Beach.

Miss Ruth West was a Wednesday night guest in Huntington Beach of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dates.

FAILS TO GET DAMAGES FROM RANCH TENANT

L. Verburg, Santa Ana dairyman, had failed to secure damages of $700 today from C. Ter Maaten, to whom he leased his ranch over two years ago, and who, he claimed, allowed the place to become over run with weeds and baling wire during his tenancy.

Ter Maaten, looking like a venerable and kindly character from Sleepy Hollow, took the stand yesterday and genially denied his erstwhile landlord's accusations. If the property was in bad condition when he took it over, the rancher declared. Of course there were mud holes in the feed yard when he moved away, but they were only a little deeper than when he first brought his cattle there, he said.

"Did you irrigate the trees while you were there?" asked his attorney, Kenneth Burns.

"You bet I did," replied Ter Maaten. "and I can prove it." Other witnesses substantiated his story.

Verburg brought suit through his attorney, Carl C. Cowles, and told the court that Ter Maaten's cattle had girdled eucalyptus trees, broken a feed rack and torn limbs from fruit trees. He said that Bermuda grass had been allowed to grow all over the place and that a concrete pipe line and a window had been broken.

A motion for non-suit was denied yesterday. It was based on the assertion that the terms of the oral contract between Verburg and Ter Maaten were not specified in the complaint and that Ter Maaten could not be held responsible for doing things which had not been clearly required of him in the agreement.

TIRE MEN HOLD FULL SWAY AT LIONS MEETING

Detailed description of the Los Angeles factory of the Goodrich Rubber company by Ed Barry, resident engineer, in an address at the Lions club meeting yesterday, revealed it as the most modern plant of its kind in America today.

Yesterday could easily have been designated as "Goodrich" day at the club meeting for representatives of the line here and men prominent in the conduct of the plant and business at Los Angeles were present. The visitors from Los Angeles included F. L. Hockensmith, district manager for Diamond tires, who disclosed that Diamonds are produced at the Los Angeles factory in equal proportion to Goodrich, and Frank Titus, general sales manager on the Pacific Coast. Herb Miller, Diamond dealer here, officiated as chairman, and on the committee with him were George Platt, Goodrich dealer, and Andy Anderson, Orange county representative of the factory.

In his discussion of the new factory, put in operation 10 days ago, Barry pointed out that when the company decided to build a plant for the Pacific coast in Los Angeles, the engineers were confronted with the desire of the management to develop a type that architecturally would fit into the building types in the vicinity in which it was to be located.

"The architecture and type of construction is different from plants erected in the east," Barry said, and he stressed the point that the building front is 1700 feet long and that the floor space has an area of eight acres.

"For the first time in the history of tire manufacturing we have introduced in this plant a system whereby the raw material enters one end of the building and comes out the other end a finished product," the engineer said. He described the various steps in manufacture and pointed to equipment and pieces of machinery that he declared are not generally duplicated in other factories.

The Lions club quartette "came back to life" yesterday and furnished the musical program as a special courtesy to its director, Andy Anderson. The club has not been singing for several months and special rehearsals were necessary for the program given.

Frank Austin, of Glendale, holder of the low jump record for parachute jumpers on the Pacific coast will provide the thrills at the Eddie Martin airport Sunday. Austin will make a leap from the wings of a plane flying at an altitude of only 5000 feet.

A number of special events are planned for the airport Sunday. The jump was to have been made last Sunday but was postponed on account of wet weather.

LOCAL SCOUTS PLAN TO VISIT IN SAN DIEGO

Many Orange County Scouts are looking forward to the visit to San Diego next week at the Older Scouts conference, which will be attended by Scouts from all over Southern California.

The conference is for Scouts from 15 to 18 years of age, who are first class in rank or above. Already approximately 20 have registered from Orange Co. for the trip. They will be in charge of Scoutmaster Byron Shell of Fullerton. The program at San Diego will start Monday evening with an address by Jas. E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the B. S. A. who is in California at the present time in connection with the meeting of the National Council to be held in San Francisco the week following. After that two entire days will be spent in discussing "the place of the older boys in the Scout program."

Orange County Scouts who are planning to attend the conference are: From Fullerton, Clifford Berkeley, Fred Munlist, Geo. Livingston, Paul Herbert, Paul McQuire, Bill Wood, Robt. McCormick, Fred Reese, George Reeve. From La Habra, Nilean Tinker. From Brea, Adelbert Andrews, Jr. From Anaheim, Vern Backs, Don Ferguson. From Santa Ana, Os-

SLAVES' FREEDOM CAUSES PROBLEM

LONDON, March 30.—The difficulties encountered in bringing about the abolition of slavery in the Sierra Leone protectorate, where some 220,000 slaves were recently freed, are revealed in the official documents just published on the subject by the British government.

These papers include the correspondence of Sir Alexander Slater, former governor of the protectorate, who in 1924 commenced his task of revising the laws dealing with domestic slavery. One of the most difficult obstacles to be surmounted was the lack of public opinion upon the issue. Even the slaves themselves, it is shown in the report, were indifferent with regard to their freedom, while certain authorities declared that the general redemption of slaves would have a chaotic effect.

The matter was finally brought to a head by a law suit relating to the capture of runaway slaves. This finally led to the framing of a new ordinance abolishing slavery altogether.

The new Slavery bill was unanimously passed by the legislative assembly on September 22, 1927, and in consequence all slaves became freemen on January 1st, 1928. This meant the liberation of about 15 per cent. of the total population.

JACIANS PLAN ALOHA MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

Aloha! Instead of the usual what have you salute, the handshaking committee of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce will spout the famous hula greeting next Monday night when the visitors arrive to enjoy the Jacians' Hawaiian program.

With decorations of pineapple, coconuts and grass in evidence, the tropical atmosphere is expected to prevail throughout the evening, according to Tevis Westgate, chairman of the program committee.

Uncle Remus, whose harmonica solos and jokes are well known to radio fans, will be on hand to cheer the gathering with his humor and harmony.

Motion picture scenes of Hawaii will be featured and every eye is expected to be peeled to catch sight of any hula maidens who may be dancing in and out among the verdant foliage. The film show also will show Pacific coast views.

Don Dearth, formerly with the Hawaiian trio, will add to the variety of the evening with ukulele solos.

Norman Pabst, member of the Beverly Hills board of trustees, will address the group on the clean campaign which was launched yesterday. Pabst is an expert on trees and he may be expected to tell the Jacians how to raise mango and papaya trees where only castor beans grew before.

Ed Marble, dressed up with the name of Honolulu Pete, and Lynn Crawford, staggering under the pseudonym of Walkiki Slim, will encourage the crowd to warble Hawaiian melodies.

The committee in charge of the affair, headed by Westgate, includes Earl Vite, Floyd Howard, Norman Herzog and Durward Page.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headache, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We will be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

FORMER EDITOR TALKS BEFORE LOCAL PUPILS

The pupils of the Business Institute and Secretarial School listened to an address yesterday by J. P. Baumgartner, former editor of The Register, in which he urged them to conceive and cherish the ideal that business is not merely a means of making money—its better and larger part is community service. "No young man or young woman," he said, "will ever have any real, permanent business success, even in the way of making money, unless he or she proceeds upon that theory and strives toward that goal."

The speaker emphasized the importance of thoroughness. "The business world," he said, "is constantly calling for thoroughness, and a high degree of competency, while incompetents and those of only average and less than average ability are storming at its doors which are closed against them."

"Loyalty and honesty, of course," said Mr. Baumgartner, "are prerequisites to success. Not merely loyalty to your 'big boss,' but loyalty to your department head or foreman—don't go over his head to the chief, even though you suffer what may seem to you injustice. And not merely the honesty that will not steal, but the honesty that will not lie or resort to devious ways and means."

Labor turnover, the speaker declared, is bad business for both employer and employee, and young people going into business life should be very careful about jumping from one job to another for the sake of a few dollars advance in wages. "If your job is fairly satisfactory and offers reasonable expectation of advancement, stick to it even for a little less salary than may be offered elsewhere," he said.

"Some very able writers" concluded the speaker, "contend that success in business depends largely on luck or chance; but these articles invariably contradict themselves by bringing out the fact that the business man whose big success is attributed to luck or chance was, in every instance, one whose mind was alert to see and seize the chance, and who had the industry and perseverance and foundational training necessary to improve the opportunity to the uttermost."

Sailing Vessels Idle As Steamers Used By Packers

SEATTLE, Wn., March 30.—A forest of idle masts will remain in Pacific coast ports this year when the vessels of packing companies start their journey to Alaskan waters in quest of fish.

The passing of the sailing vessels and their replacement by steamers have been announced by the management of several companies.

Libby, McNeill & Libby announced that steamers will carry supplies of the company and the 3000 employees to the Alaskan fields.

Announcement was made by the Alaskan Packing company that only five sailing vessels are to be used during the coming season, and as a result the boats of the company will remain at their winter docks at Oakland, Calif.

PACIFIC PACHYDERMS

It's a tough life that the sea-elephants on Guadalupe Island lead. Tourists and photographers are forever disturbing their sonorous slumbering. The monster mammals, some of which weigh 6000 pounds, won't even sit up to have their pictures taken without a bit of teasing such as these two are being given.

Police News

An automobile owned by Constable Jesse Elliott, was stolen last night from the alleyway at the county courthouse and recovered three hours later in the 800 block on North Birch street. "Joyriders," said the police, on recovering the machine for the constable.

Officers Smithwick and Swain were called to Washington avenue and Ross streets early last night when a fight was reported in progress there. They were unable to find any disturbance when they arrived, however.

Charged with being drunk, B. T. Ooghee, 29, 702 Orange avenue, was arrested last night by Officers Adams and Elliott, while he was sitting on the curb at Cypress and Bishop streets. Ooghee also was arrested here a week ago on a drunk charge.

Sergeant Frank Lutz, who for the past several months has forsaken his desk job at the city police station for fresh air and an outside job in the business district will return to his old job next Monday morning, it was announced today. During his absence, R. H. Barnard, sergeant, has been in charge of the station. Barnard will trade places with Lutz.

Charged with being drunk, J. M. Hart, was fined $15 in police court yesterday.

Eight motorists forgot to move their automobiles from the one-hour parking stalls and were fined yesterday in Judge J. F. Talbot's court. Each received a $2 fine. They were J. C. Jordan, Fred May, C. D. Bennett, W. P. Johnson, The Howard Company, F. W. Wlesseman, T. Yoshikawa and G. H. Lowry.

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, Guadalupe Gonzales, 25, San Juan Capistrano, was arrested last night and lodged in the county jail.

Girl Proposes And Secures Husband

LONDON, March 30.—English women were not afraid to make use of Leap Year day, according to a story just revealed here.

A young and eligible man found the following note upon his breakfast tray on February 29:

"I . . . being of sound mind, do hereby make a declaration of my affection and esteem for . . . (hereinafter to be called Sunny Jim) and do hereby and forthwith offer him my hand in solemn matrimony, it being my privilege to do so upon this day in the year called Leap; and that my intentions are honorable and of good intent, I do hereby register a vow that he assenting to the proffered hand which I herewith hold out to him, I will thereupon undertake to love, honor, and obey the said Sunny Jim, while life shall last."

The young man mentioned replied that he would much rather pay hat bills than bachelor's tax. The wedding will be celebrated shortly.

The bride declares that "faint heart never won shy husband."

PRISON WARDEN CHARGED WITH BACKING CRIME

By JACOB SIMON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
KOVNO, Lithuania, March 30.—Ambrasevitchius is the name of a man who has contributed to a crime-ridden world a new and unprecedented branch of crime. No first name is entered on the police records; but what with such a handle as Ambrasevitchius, it may be considered superfluous.

Two years ago Ambrasevitchius was appointed by the Lithuanian government as director of the Birzi prison. Birzi, which is a village of several thousand souls near the Lithuanian-Latvian border, thus became the scene of Ambrasevitchius' amazing activity. As a result of his peculiar pursuits, Ambrasevitchius soon will be tried by a Lithuanian court.

Glancing along the phalanx of convicts under his aegis one day, the warden of Birzi prison said to himself, "What is the use of this assembly of expert criminals, if their talents are to slumber in prison cells?"

Ambrasevitchius decided to employ the prisoners profitably and for his own purposes.

Poverty is rare in the Birzi district. The adjacent Latvian border offers a lucrative field for smuggling. And so Ambrasevitchius organized his wards in squads of 10 and sent them forth on "business journeys." These jaunts, which usually lasted eight or 10 days, were not narrowly circumscribed. But each of the travelers made it a point of professional pride to return to the prison and place his booty at the feet of the robber-chief, Prison Director Ambrasevitchius.

Burglary, highway robbery, smuggling and extortion comprised the program; and the prison director's extensive warehouse, filled with pelf, bore witness to the success of the enterprise. Each squad shared in the plunder, which consisted partly in cash, sometimes in food and occasionally in a bottle of brandy to cheer the prison warden's cohorts.

Life in the Birzi prison was gay and debonair, filled with adventure and romance, comfort and luxury. Few of the convicts desired more freedom than they already enjoyed in the exercise of their talents.

But Ambrasevitchius was a reasonable man and, if a convict wanted to be set free, Ambrasevitchius' price was not exorbitant. Regardless of the sentence the prisoner was serving, he could buy his liberation. The freed convict's name was kept on the prison records. If an inspector came and displayed curiosity, he was informed that this or that prisoner had died, poor fellow!

The seduction continued for two years, to the benefit of Ambrasevitchius and his prisoners and to the misfortune of the inhabitants of the Birzi district. The result was several hundred hold-ups, hundreds of burglaries, a few murders and a case or two of arson.

Then Ambrasevitchius was caught. Now he is in jail, awaiting trial. His loyal body-guards, now devouring bread and water behind the bars, dream of happier days.

ITALY'S FOREIGN TRADE INCREASING

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ROME, March 30.—The gradually improved conditions of Italy's foreign trade show that the efforts of Premier Mussolini and his collaborators to increase exports and diminish imports have obtained considerable success.

The adverse trade balance for 1926 was reduced 36.8 per cent in 1927.

As regards Germany, the trade balance is now in favor of Italy. Up to the end of September, 1927, there was a balance in Italy's favor of 288,421,552 lire as against a deficit of 551,241,273 for the corresponding period of 1926. Imports from Germany have fallen off by 613,992,588 lire as against an increase of 175,680,542 in Italian exports to Germany.

The details are as follows: Cotton cloth imports declined by 19.4 million lire, scrap iron by 54.4 millions, machinery by 176.3 millions. On the other hand, coal imports from Germany increased by 37.1 millions of lire.

Italian exports to Germany show steady increases. There was an increase up to the end of September 1927 of 4.1 millions for cheese; 22.1 millions for rice; 44.9 millions for oranges, lemons and citrons; 6.1 millions for wines; 35.9 millions for cotton yarn; 47.6 millions for silk; 23.9 millions for artificial silk and 10.8 millions for marble.

Italian merchandise which shows a falling off for the German export market include fresh vegetables, fresh fruit and eggs.

The trade deficit with Great Britain declined for the first nine months of 1927 in comparison with the corresponding period of 1926 by 370 millions of lire notwithstanding that the coal import, which is the heaviest item in Italy's trade balance with England, increased from 711 million lire to 807 millions.

The total imports from January to November 1927 were 18,510 millions of lire; for the same period in 1926, they were 23,676 millions showing a decrease of 5166 millions. Exports were 14,087 millions for the same 11-month period in 1927, while they were 16,742 millions in 1926, showing a decrease of 2655 millions.

Unusual Will Is Recorded In North

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—One of the most peculiar wills ever on record here has been admitted to probate.

The will is that of Mrs. Annie M. Gunn and is in the form of a letter, in Mrs. Gunn's handwriting, addressed to the public administrator. Mrs. Gunn wrote:

"As my death may come at any time, I will my clothes, trunk, furniture, bric-a-brac and jewelry to the Federated Salvage shop. All my money and bonds left after my funeral expenses are paid are to be used for the benefit of our crippled soldiers."

"No one has any claim on me, as I earned this money after my divorce, and I never had a child and have no near kin. I want my body cremated and the ashes scattered to the wind, unless some college wants to use it for dissecting. Enclosed is a list of my disabilities."

Here are the disabilities listed by the woman: Fractured skull, a dislocation of the right knee, upper jaw bone scraped, right hand crushed and burned, a mastoid removed behind the left ear and jaundice.

Commission Again To Rule City's Night Baseball

BAR ALL-STAR PLAYERS FROM LOCAL LEAGUE

Otto Jacobs Named Prexy; Santa Ana Circuit Will Include Only Six Teams

A commission, composed of three regular officers and four duly elected commissioners, will rule Santa Ana night baseball again this summer. Unanimous approval of this policy was given when enthusiasts of the lunar recreation met for the first time last night in the council chamber at the city hall.

Otto A. Jacobs, well known Santa Ana attorney, was re-elected president of the league by a unanimous vote, the boosters being high in praise of the manner in which he conducted his office last year.

Dean B. Colver was re-elected treasurer, he also coming in for a large share of encomiums. Horace C. Snow, Ralph (Bill) Cole, Edwayne ("Eeny") Wilcox and Ed L. Vegely were elected commissioners. Eddie West was made secretary.

On the motion of George Hayden, it was voted unanimously to bar members of Santa Ana's all-star team, which will represent the city in the annual Orange county league pennant chase, from city league contests which will be played at Lincoln field three nights each week. Thus, only six teams will make up the city league roster.

After considerable discussion relative to city and county leagues it was voted to place the county league all-star outfit under the direct control of the commission, with this body having absolute direction of the team.

The commission will meet next Tuesday night, at 7 o'clock, in the offices of President Jacobs.

WILLARD BALL CLUB LOSES 7 TO 4 GAME

After working up a four-run lead in the first six innings, Francisco E. Willard junior high school's baseball team lost to San Bernardino yesterday, 7 to 4.

Sanchez, star Willard pitcher, was invincible in the early part of the match but lost his control in the seventh and San Bernardino made up all, and more, of their lost ground. Floyd Blower, Willard's reserve runner, was hit on the elbow by a pitched ball and could not go to the box. Kneaded finished up and hurled scoreless ball.

Willard's lineup: Sanchez, rf; Chavez, cf; Day, 1b; Lutz, 2b; Chavez, 3b; Cox, ss; Blower, lf; Quen, cf; Harlow, rf; Donahue, cf; Bell, utility.

CHAMP'S BROTHER BOXES AT HUNTINGTON BEACH TONIGHT

Here's Vince Dundee who boxes at the Huntington Beach Athletic club tonight. Dundee is a brother of the world's welterweight champion, Joe Dundee.

As a special attraction for their customers tonight, promoters of the Huntington Beach Amateur Athletic club will present in an exhibition bout, Vince Dundee, of Baltimore, brother of the world's welterweight champion, Joe Dundee.

Dundee, recent conqueror of Baby Joe Gans, Pete August and Bobby La Salle, will box Young Sam Langford, flashy colored welter, who worked out with Gans at Huntington Beach last week. This will be Dundee's final appearance in a California ring. He leaves next week for a visit to his home.

The Real Fastest Human

A series of articles on professional foot racing of 35 years ago in general and about Tom Morris, the Santa Ana, probably the fastest sprinter of all time, in particular.

The following times made by Morris will satisfy you that he was a runner: 50 yards, .05 flat (repeatedly); 75 yards, .07 flat; 100 yards, .09 3-5 (repeatedly); .09 1/2 (twice); 150 yards, 0:14 flat. Virtually all of the material was gathered and prepared by Ben Macomber, a Santa Ana of the early days and now a San Francisco newspaperman. The Register also is indebted to C. W. Raney, Morris' trainer in the old days; L. F. Harvey and T. E. Stephenson, all of Santa Ana, for information. The story is about a Santa Ana boy who made world history but whom the world has now almost forgotten. It should be of interest to any lover of sport, old or young.

CHAPTER VI

THE education of a well known Northern Californian whose name for the purpose of this article shall be Mr. Blank, in backing foot racers was begun in the famous Tom Morris-James Quirk dash, described in this series yesterday.

In the account of Morris' run with Quirk it was hinted that then and there the famous horseman began a schooling in the ins and outs of the professional sprinting racket.

For Blank, however, there was nothing but stakes.

He was a stakeholder, not only for Morris and Quirk and their personal supporters but also for a good many other wagers.

Stake Approximately $20,000

As was said in the story of the race, the stake was the largest Morris ever ran for. It approximated $20,000.

The original stake was $1000 a side. Then a side bet of $5000 each was put up by the backers of the two runners.

Then after the arrangement had been made by which Morris was to "throw" the race to the Canadian, Quirk money began to appear by the bucketful. It was all covered, either by Morris' personal backers or by other local bettors who believed, as did the whole country and with reason, that Tom was absolutely unbeatable. Even to this day the survivors of the old-time sporting crowd in Santa Ana can tell you the exact sums they won in the match but to indulge into personalities at this stage of the game is nobody's business.

In the final analysis the total amounted to a trifling more than $20,000, which was a whale of a lot of money in those days when the orange and walnut growers of Orange county were not all bloated millionaires. It was a lot of money to be trusted on a professional foot race anytime.

Don Marco Bet Horse

At the last moment, Don Marco Forster, of San Juan Capistrano, bet a choice of any 50 horses on his ranch against $150. He favored Tom Morris, of course.

But some of this money, on the Quirk side, was no better than stage money. And thereby hangs a tale.

Blank was aware of that little arrangement whereby the race had been "fixed"; in fact, he knew all

Kid Louie, the idol of Placentia, who used to pack 'em in whenever he went to the post in Orange county, is making an effort to regain his old prestige and just how far he has returned will be made known after the main event he boxes with Kid Colma, a tough youngster from Compton who has won his last 10 fights by knockouts.

Joe Nergrett and Louie Coronado, box the semi-windup and Leo Rogers goes against Kid Max in the feature. Three other bouts the first at 8:30 o'clock, open the show.

SANTA ANA OFF TOMORROW FOR BIG J. C. MEET

Coach Bill Cook believes in aiming high.

He said today that his squad of Santa Ana junior college cinderpath athletes was going out to win the Southern California conference meet in which something like 300 of the Southland's crack trackmen will take part at Compton tomorrow.

But it will be an almost impossible task to beat out the all-star Pasadena junior college team.

In one of the dual meets recently, the Pasadena Pirates unofficially broke five conference records. What Santa Ana is looking forward to is winning the second place honors in an epic battle with Compton, Riverside and San Bernardino, with possibly Long Beach figuring in the race.

One of the feature events of the afternoon will be the 100 yard dash in which Maurice ("Red") Guyer, Santa Ana's speed merchant, will be pitted against V. Williams, the Compton star, who has beaten Guyer to the tape in a dual meet this season.

Guyer, however, is credited with faster time than Williams, having been clocked at 9.8 seconds.

Coach Cook is counting on several of his charges to pile up the Santa Ana points with first places that will be essential to take the second place in the classic. Bob Jacques in the high jump, Roscoe Bradbury in the discus and pole vault, Russell Hind in the dashes, Spencer Stewart and Blanchard Beatty in the javelin hurl, Gerald Twist in the low hurdles are all expected to take points.

Weather conditions this week gave indications that the track would be fast. The meet had to be postponed from last week-end because of the rains.

Junior Collegians Go Against Orange

Coach Clyde Cook will engage his Santa Ana junior college baseball nine in a practice game this afternoon with the Orange prep ensemble at the Orange high school.

During the past week, the team has been working out at the Poly diamond practicing hitting and fielding.

It is probable that Coach Cook will send Brattmiller, the former Whitaker college athlete, to the mound and he will assign Royce Edson the job behind the bat for the game this afternoon.

Hudkins-Corbett Bout Hopes Dim

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Hopes of a bout here between Ace Hudkins and Young Corbett, welterweights, were dimmed today when both fighters demanded more money than the Monarch club promoters wished to shell out.

It is probable that Coach Cook will send Brattmiller, the former Whitaker college athlete, to the mound and he will assign Royce Edson the job behind the bat for the game this afternoon.

Blank Yielded

Knowing that Quirk was to win and feeling perfectly secure, Blank yielded to a certain extent. That extent amounted to about $5000.

When Tom Morris broke the tape in the world-record time of 0:14 flat, Blank almost collapsed. "My God!" he gasped. "Tom came in first."

"Of course Tom came in first," piped Cash Harvey. "Didn't you know Tom was to come in first?"

The way out was Blank's immediate and pressing necessity. But on one side of him stood Don Marco Forster and on the other Cash Harvey. Each had a gun in his pocket and Blank knew it. The old race track on South Bristol street was quite a way out of Santa Ana and busses carried most of the crowd on race days.

Blank seized a bus. Don Marco Forster and Harvey seated themselves on either side of him. Four or five other local men who had money in Blank's pocket crowded in.

LOS ANGELES—Either John Miljus or Lee Meadows will pitch for the Pittsburgh Pirates today against Percy Lee Jones or Pat Malone of the Chicago Cubs. Chicago won the first of the four-game series yesterday, 7 to 5.

LOS ANGELES—Light morning practice, consisting principally of batting and fielding, was planned by the Los Angeles club from now until Tuesday, opening day in the Pacific Coast league.

SHREVEPORT, La.—Most of the rookies of the Chicago White Sox probably will be turned loose early next week, it was indicated today.

MIAMI, Fla.—Doctors today will decide whether Eddie Moore, Boston Braves outfielder, will be operated on for appendicitis.

PLANT CITY, Fla.—Another injury was marked up today for the

TIPPERARY TIM FIRST IN BIG STEEPLECHASE

AINTREE, England, March 30.—H. S. Kenyon's Tipperary Tim today won the ninety-second running of the classic Grand National steeplechase over the Aintree course before a throng of 300,000 persons.

Billy Barton, American horse owned by Howard Bruce of Baltimore, was the only other horse in the race to finish.

A heavy downpour of rain and sleet during the morning had so soaked the course that the favorites fell one after another, strewn the muddy course with horses and riders.

Hundreds of Americans in the throng cheered in the success of Billy Barton in completing the course, almost as though the Baltimore horse had won the race.

Billy Barton Looked Victor

Bruce's horse was leading the field as it started the second time around, and it seemed as though Billy Barton would win. The terrific jumps, 30 in number, took their toll of the field of 48, and of this record number of starters only Tipperary Tim and Billy Barton were able to complete the four miles, 486 yards of the world's most difficult steeplechase course.

Billy Barton himself fell at the very last jump, but his jockey, T. B. Cullinan, gamely remounted and brought the Baltimore horse home to claim second money.

100 to 1 Shot

The betting was 100 to 1 against the winner and 33 to 1 against Bruce's horse.

As third prize in the Grand National means a rich reward for the owner of the horse, J. Haney, rider of Sir Keith Frazier's Arden, remounted and completed the course some time after the others. As Arden had missed the two of the fences, however, it was not considered to have finished the race.

W. B. Duckworth's Great Span, which was leading Billy Barton at the dreaded Beecher's brook jump, the second time around, fell two jumps from the finish.

TIJUANA SEASON TO CLOSE NEXT SUNDAY

TIJUANA, Mexico, March 30.—The "Blaze of Glory" of the final week-end of the winter race meet here starts today, and will be climaxed with the running of the Tijuana Futurity Sunday.

The Futurity is a five furlong race for baby racers (yearlings in 1927) with a purse value of $7500. Listo, Geonaded and Spooky probably will be among the favorites for this last stake race of the meet. They will be taken east for summer campaigns.

Special trains have been arranged for to carry race fans from San Francisco, Los Angeles and Imperial valley to be on hand when the curtain goes down on the winter season.

Helen Plays For Last U. S. Match

BERKELEY, March 30.—In her final appearance before leaving for Europe, Helen Wills will meet Phil Neer in a singles match at the California club Sunday.

SURE OF OLYMPIC CHOICE

Here's pretty Georgia Coleman, Los Angeles girl who recently won the 10-foot board-diving championship at Pasadena, Calif., competing against the best divers of the country. She's regarded by experts as a sure shot for the Olympic squad this summer. Who wouldn't put her on the team?

LOMSKI, SEKYRA IN N. Y. BOUT TONIGHT

NEW YORK, March 30.—One of those rip-roaring, slam bang battles which bring the customers out of their seats is anticipated for this evening when Leo Lomski and Joe Sekyra, leading light heavyweight contenders, meet at Madison Square Garden.

The bout is about as much of a "natural" as though John L. Sullivan could have been tossed into the ring with Jack Dempsey when each was in his prime.

COLORED CLUBS MERGE TO PLAY BEAVERS HERE

Pacific Coast League Men Like Gob Pitching, Bat Out Easy 15 to 4 Win

Portland's last and, except for that never-to-be-forgotten game with the Chicago Cubs, most important series of its six-week training grind at the Orange County Fair grounds will be started tomorrow afternoon.

The Philadelphia Royal Hilldale Giants, revamped, renovated and repaired, return to Santa Ana Saturday to begin a two-game stand with the Pacific Coast leaguers and the Sunday engagement will be the Beavers' last on county soil. They go to Los Angeles Monday to open their Pacific Coast league schedule Tuesday.

George Carr, the boss of the Philadelphia colored club, has merged the Hilldale with the Cleveland All-Stars and the lineup he will send against Ernie Johnson's employees will be one qualified in every particular to make things entertaining.

The invading mound staff will consist of S. Cooper, A. Cooper, "Speed" Holland and Joe Flournoy, two right handers and as many who work with their other paw.

Pullen will be behind the log with Carr at first base, Day at second base, Warfield at third and Mackey at short. In the outfield will be Hubbard, Holloway and Dixon.

Portland will present its usual lineup with Fred Ortmann, Larry French and one or two others tentatively assigned to take care of the deceiving duties.

The Beavers yesterday found the club from the U. S. S. California easier pickings than the hustling bunch from the U. S. S. Tennessee, and won as they pleased. The score was 15 to 4.

Dave Barbes hit successive home runs, one of them going a mile over the deep left field fence, Elmer Smith slammed out four

RED SOX HOPE TO CLIMB OUT OF LAST PLACE

BRADENTOWN, Fla., March 30.—The Boston Red Sox are not going to be the football of the American league this season, if Bill Carrigan can help it and he thinks he can.

The Red Sox manager, recalled from retirement in 1927 to make over the ball club he once piloted to world's championship, has no predilection for optimism when it comes to talking about baseball, but he does maintain that his team is not going to finish in the cellar, as it did last season.

"We are immeasurably stronger than we were last year," Carrigan told the United Press. "There will be more punch in the Red Sox lineup this season."

Hoffman Steady Catcher
"Fred Hoffman is a good steady catcher with plenty of experience. Phil Todd and Russell Rollings can take care of first base in good style. Buddy Myer, Jack Rothrock and Bill Regan may not be the best infield in the world but they certainly are not the worst in the league."

"Ken Williams is going to strengthen our outfield, where we've also have Kenny Williams, Flagstead and Doug Tait."

Carrigan believes the Red Sox pitching, not highly rated generally, will surprise the experts.

Two Rookies Promising

Ed Morris from Mobile, and Johnny Wilson of Waterbury, are a couple of rookie hurlers who have impressed the Boston manager favorably during spring training.

"I'm depending on Morris and Wilson for quite a number of victories," said Bill.

Carrigan picks the Yankees to win the American league pennant once again.

"I don't think we can win it ourselves," he said with a wry smile, "and we may not make the first division this season, but we will have a hustling, fighting ball club, and we certainly do not expect to be last."

in also.

Back in town, Blank hurried to his hotel room. The local bodyguard pushed its way in with him.

There the men present—most of them, if not all, puzzled to account for the stakeholder's curious actions and apparently flabbergasted state of mind—began to press him to hand over the coin.

Blank played for time and tried to think.

"The race is over," Harvey said. "Tom won—no question about it—and it is time to pay over the stakes and the bet."

Finally Blank handed over the $10,000 comprising the side bets, which he had retained intact. But his hesitation over the remainder was inexplicable.

At last he said in Spanish to Don Marco: "I haven't got all of it. You will have to help me."

Story Comes Out

But several other men in the room understood Spanish and the story had to come out.

Forster came to the horseman's rescue. He let Blank have the necessary $3500. But he nearly broke Blank's heart by taking several wonderful horses as security.

Of course, Blank raised the money at once to redeem the horses. But that was not the end. He still had another lesson coming before his education was completed.

Quirk, who seems to have been a master palaver as well as a track sprinter, came to Blank with a scheme to recoup their losses at Santa Ana. He knew, he said, of a sprinter out in Arizona who thought himself a world beater.

Quirk said he could run rings around this desert crack.

Double-Crossed Again

"Now," urged Quirk, "I want to help you get your $3500 back, and more, if you are willing to make it. If you will back me for that amount we will take it away from dear old Arizona."

Blank listened—and fell.

They went to Arizona. Blank put up $3000 or $4000 on Quirk. No doubt the Canadian could run rings around this simple Arizona boy.

But he didn't.

Anyone with even an inkling of the nature of the old-time professional foot racing game can easily draw his own conclusions.

'WOMAN' CHAMP PYLE RUNNERS IS FOUND MAN JOG 35 MILES AFTER SUICIDE ON LAP TODAY

SAPULPA, Okla., March 30.—Frances Anderson, of Los Angeles, known at one time as the world's champion woman billiard player, was revealed yesterday as a man after he had committed suicide in a hotel here.

Anderson, who had posed as a woman for more than 30 years, slashed his wrists with a razor blade in a hotel here. He was 58 years old.

The body was found attired in woman's clothing and Anderson's sex was not made known until after examination at the mortuary. A letter lying near the body pleaded that the secret he had kept for more than three decades be not divulged.

Newspaper clippings indicated that Anderson formerly lived in Los Angeles and was a champion woman billiard player.

("Frances Anderson," billed as the champion woman pocket billiard player of the world, appeared in two exhibition matches with Santa Ana players at the old Alexandria parlors on North Main street several years ago.

Local cue fans well remember the contests in which "Miss Anderson" showed fits of temperment and barely escaped with victories over "her" two male opponents. At one time during the match "she" threatened to hit a spectator with a cue. — Sport Editor's note.)

FORMER LEADER OF A. L. ABLE TO LEAVE BED

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 30.—B. B. ("Ban") Johnson, veteran baseball magnate, who has been seriously ill at the home of his brother in Coronado, across the bay from here, was able to leave his bed today.

A special dietitian, brought here by the former president of the American league, is supervising the preparation of all food served at Johnson's meals.

W. R. Johnson, Ban's brother, formerly treasurer of the American league, refuses to allow Ban to receive visitors.

"My brother is confined to his room," he said, "and is still fighting for his life."

The turbulent baseball dictator is suffering from diabetes and hardening of the arteries.

Umpiring during these new days of polite and society-like baseball had become an occupation safe enough to be removed from the class of hazards the insurance companies wouldn't risk. Particularly was the American league removed from the old rough-neck atmosphere of the "muggy days" of baseball when cops were the best friends of the ump.

Players always will crab about decisions not to their liking but the crabbing excuses were limited in recent years by the adoption of a policy that in judgment on calling a play or a ball the umpire was final. But when it came to an interpretation of the rules an appeal to a higher court was in order.

Virtually all of the troubles experienced by the umpires came from protests about their judgment on outs, balls and strikes, but the

NEW HOSPITAL FOR GIRLS IS PLAN FOR L. A.

Mrs. Helen Whitty of Los Angeles, has completed a several weeks' stay in this city in the interests of the Ruth Sanitarium of Los Angeles, and left today for the Imperial valley where she will continue her work.

The Ruth Sanitarium is a non-sectarian coast organization conducted for unfortunate young girls under the auspices of the Pacific Protective society, and has outgrown its present quarters on Compton avenue, Los Angeles. Mrs. Alexander H. Kerr, acting superintendent, has donated a plot of ten acres at El Monte, where a new home and hospital is to be built as soon as the necessary funds are gathered.

Sale of the old property will give a nucleus for building and generous contributions are being made by those interested in the work.

Mrs. Nora Allen, Miss Helen Woodworth and Dr. Merrill Hollingsworth have been appointed as a local board to work with the executive board of the sanitarium, and Dr. Hollingsworth has volunteered his services as physician for a stated period each week. The sanitarium maintains resident trained nurses, but no resident physician. The young patients, many of whom are mothers, are given every care and attention, and not only do they receive medical aid in a home-like atmosphere, but they are given the advantages of elementary school work, and also commercial and domestic science courses that fit them to earn a living.

WORK ON CITY RESERVOIR TO BEGIN AT ONCE

Following completion of the foundation for the big 1,000,000 gallon steel tank the city is to erect on its property on Fourteenth street near the Lincoln grammar school, the Llewellyn Iron Works, of Los Angeles, today had men on the site for preliminary work necessary to starting work on the tank.

The structure is scheduled for completion by June 15, and if the company completes its contract by that time it will have made a record for quick erection of a tank of the size and type of the installation, according to Clyde Jenken, city engineer, who pointed out that 7 months is the usual time required for building such a water holder.

Overall the tank will be 153 feet high. The company has been engaged at its plant in Los Angeles for several days in manufacturing steel parts for the tank.

Haste in construction has been occasioned by the fact that the storage capacity will be needed for the summer months, as the council has abandoned the 8,000,000 gallon dirt reservoir at Olive and Sixth streets.

ZONING ORDINANCE BEFORE CITY BOARD

LAGUNA BEACH, March 29.—Short and uneventful, in contrast to the session of the previous week was the meeting of the city council last night, when third reading was held of the amendment to the zoning ordinances.

Robert M. Simon, who owns property on Coast boulevard extending to the ocean front, addressed the council, asking that a section on both sides of the highway on Diamond street to Victoria drive be excluded from the business zone. He thought that the amount of territory in the business zone was scarcely warranted, and asserted that to spread it out over too much space would be detrimental.

William W. Riddell, who followed Simon, agreed that the district from Diamond street to Victoria drive is largely unsuited for business development, but thought the block from Diamond to Ruby should be allowed to remain in the business district.

City Attorney Vernon W. Hunt said he had been asked to bring to the council the matter of eliminating Cypress drive from Aster street to Monterey drive from the business zone.

Councilman Joseph R. Jahraus asked that Coast boulevard from Beverly drive to High drive be eliminated from the business zone. The attorney was instructed to draw an ordinance withdrawing the districts requested from the business zone.

Court Notes

Asks Damages
Asking $2766 in damages for injuries in an automobile accident January 1, Agapito Cardona, 1013 Logan street had started a lawsuit in Superior court today against W. C. Whitley. The accident occurred near Irvine, according to the complaint, when the Whitley car collided with the machine of Louis Parga, with whom Cardona was riding. Parga's automobile was worth $150 before the crash, the complaint alleged, but after the accident was valued at only five dollars.

Sues to Recover
In a complaint filed yesterday A. H. Kaufman alleged that the Western Loan and Building company had refused to pay him $1150 in commissions. He brought the matter to Superior court, where he is attempting to recover that amount.

Sue For Services
George E. Hamber, A. W. Lynch and C. D. Wiley began today an attempt to secure $978.71 from the Valley View Ranch company, alleged to be due for labor and services. The suit was launched by a complaint in the Superior court.

Will Is Filed
The will of Edward L. Enoch, who died March 21, at Tucson, Arizona, was filed for probate today and showed that he left an estate valued at $4000. F. A. Blake, Orange, was named as executor.

WESTMINSTER BOY SCOUTS HONORED
WESTMINSTER, March 29.—Five Westminster Boy Scouts were awarded second class badges at the court of honor held last night in Huntington Beach. They were Billy Turpin, Nelson Morgan, Glen Curtis, James Gobie and Orvil Hare Jr.

The Scouts are members of a new troop, of which Fred D. Basse, president of the chamber of commerce, is Scoutmaster.

WIFE CHASER
CHICAGO, March 29.—However fast Walter J. Stein courted his wife, Ruth, his recent chase after her in a taxi was much faster—and more expensive. Stein sued his wife for divorce, last October, charging her with deserting him for golf. Later, he named Keith Estelle in the suit. Learning that the couple, Ruth and Keith, were on their way to Florida, Walter hired a taxi and caught the couple in Madisonville, Ky. The trip cost him $192.90—and a tip.

Fortified City In France Celebrates
PARIS, March 30.—Old towers of Carcassonne that held off brigands and armies for 2000 years and stood a siege of the Saracens are to have their 2000th birthday. NATIONS HEAR OF GERMANY'S PLANS FOR WAR

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, March 30.—Accusations made in the Reichstag by German communist deputies that secret military preparedness work is being carried on by Germans in Spain, Turkey and Sweden, although denied by the Berlin government, have internal evidence of approaching the truth. It has been an open secret in the European cabinets for some time that Germany's army and navy officials would take the first favorable opportunity to equip secret military bases in foreign countries as long as Germany were not permitted a free hand at home in this respect.

How such an undertaking can be pressed to a successful conclusion presents no serious problems. Submarines and airplanes can be more or less secretly constructed in sections and it would not be a severe tax on German ingenuity for these offensive weapons to be built abroad with out too much knowledge of the plans becoming common property.

Neither the airplanes nor the submarines need even be put together nor need the parts be constructed at one plant or even stored in a single place for their effectiveness to be demonstrated should a great crisis arise. An airplane wing might be made many miles away from the body of the ship and kept under concealment for years. The ship's body can be turned out in parts, at different times and not bolted together until an emergency gave Germany her chance. Submarines can now be made mechanically, almost like a Ford car, parts turned out according to measurements and fitting exactly. As long as the specifications are followed, it is immaterial how many different plants turn out different parts. When the parts are brought together they can be riveted into a serviceable craft with rapidity.

Engines and motors are the least difficult parts to have in readiness because their sizes are not so great as to make them particularly conspicuous in storage. In fact, motors could be secretly made in Germany and held there for instant air transportation to foreign destinations where they could be attached to the airplanes in process of being assembled.

It is not likely that the European powers will show any particular concern over the German communist charges. The use by Germany of foreign bases for a future hypothetical war has been studied thoroughly and every such theoretical activity has been taken into consideration and discounted as far as possible. Once war were to break out, the neutrality laws would compel foreign non-belligerents to prevent Germany making off with the war weapons.

There are frequent reports, however, that many of the parts of airplanes and submarines secretly constructed abroad to Germany's order, already have been shipped to German ports and now are safely concealed at home. This could easily be done by false invoices and there is no such supervision of German imports as would permit the allies or the League of Nations to know officially what was going on. Secret service work by the allies, however, has gained much information about Germany's war preparedness plans.

But there is no possibility whatever of the Germans being able to wage a serious conflict within any reasonable time in the future, while present conditions exist. Nevertheless, conditions may change as suddenly as the world war itself came into being. A major conflict might break out in Europe not involving Germany and one of the belligerents might find means of forming an alliance with Germany that would permit the Germans to enter the war as an ally, under favorable conditions. Then the secret arrangements Germany has already made and will certainly continue to make in the coming years, would have an enormous value. All Germany needs is to have the ring around her broken. The Germans cannot make the break themselves, but new enemies and suspicions are developing among those who now hold the ring which may do the work.

The allies of one war are so constantly the enemies of the next war that this is almost a regular rule in Europe. Germany knows it and the other nations know it. Indeed, the very fact that Germany has secret war resources—as well as native military genius—makes her a potential ally of prime value. More than one nation is counting on Germany's eventual help if there is a new war.

15,000 YARDS SAND REMOVED FROM CHANNEL

NEWPORT BEACH, March 30.—Approximately 15,000 yards of material has been moved from the entrance to Newport harbor by the Sparks and McClellan dredger during its 17 days of work there. It was reported today by Al Sparks, in charge of the dredging work. Three big sand bars, which were menacing navigators coming in and out of the harbor, have been removed.

Dredging work was started at a point 850 feet from shore about half way out to the end of the jetty. A channel 21 feet deep, 300 feet wide and 250 feet long was dredged at that point. The dredger was then moved to the outer end of the jetty, 1600 feet from shore, and a bar at that point was removed and a channel 200 feet long, 21 feet deep and 120 feet wide was cut.

At present the dredger is working on an inner bar and has cut a channel 18 feet deep, 120 feet wide and 375 feet long in the inner part of the entrance. The dredger has gone over the channel several times and has removed more sand than can be figured in actual yardage, according to Sparks. The work is to continue until the channel is deep enough for fairly large ships to enter.

Bushman Laguna Beach Fire Chief

LAGUNA BEACH, March 30.—P. J. Bushman has been named chief of the volunteer fire department here, it was reported today. Bushman, a local property owner, succeeds Leon C. Endres, who has been fire chief for several years. Endres issued a statement thanking the citizens of Laguna for their co-operation in fire department matters, following the election of the new chief.

Brea Water Wells Give Data On Oil

BREA, March 30.—The Bastanchury Ranch company is putting down a number of water wells on its land near here, the average depth of each being approximately 2200 feet.

While no further ventures in oil drilling are contemplated by this company for the present, cores from the water well drilling are being taken daily and a careful record is being kept of the data thus obtained. All this, it is reported, will be used at some future date in locating the most likely site on the ranch for the drilling of another oil well.

FULLERTON TO CAMPAIGN FOR SCOUT FUNDS

FULLERTON, March 30.—Plans for the 1928 Boy Scout fund campaign in Fullerton were told today by G. W. Finch, chairman of the Fullerton district committee of the Boy Scouts, when he announced that Harry Suters had been appointed chairman of the campaign, which will be staged April 4, 5 and 6.

The quota for Fullerton for 1928 has been set for $2200, according to Finch, who stated that the year's program has been enlarged over other years because of the fact that the Boy Scout movement is growing rapidly.

"There are now five active troops in Fullerton and a possibility of a sixth troop for the year," Finch stated. "There are also three cub packs functioning, making a total of eight units, involving some 240 different boys." A cub pack will be organized in connection with each of the troops by the end of the year so that nearly 300 boys will be enrolled. Finch expects that at least 40 men will co-operate in putting the campaign over in whirlwind fashion.

Ankle Broken As Cycle Hits Auto

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 30.—J. T. Quaid, of this city, sustained a broken ankle here yesterday, when his motorcycle collided with a machine driven by S. S. Bergery, of 906 Delaware avenue, according to a report on file at the police station. The accident occurred at the intersection of Main and Thirteenth streets. Bergery was making a turn at the time of the crash. Quaid was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he was treated by Dr. R. E. Hawes.

STUDENTS WILL GIVE PLAYLET APRIL 12, 13

ANAHEIM, March 30.—"The Kitchen Clock," a musical playlet is to be presented the evenings of April 12 and 13 by the pupils of the Fremont intermediate grammar school, under the direction of Miss Ruth Upp.

Children of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will take part in the production, which is from the pens of Florence Crocker Comfort and Herbert Hyde. Seventy-eight young folk will take part.

Those who will have parts in the play are as follows: "Night Lady," Katherine Anna McCullah; "Cook," Myrtle Mildrum; "Clock," James Reinet; "Tea Kettle," Kathleen Sheridan; "Dust Pan," Harry Burnham; "Broom," Ardella Elcher; "Stew Kettle," Theodora Wedel; "Feather Duster," Leonora Jensen; "Rag Tag Men," Bob Eley and Gordon Lewis.

Miss Lillian Christianson is to furnish the accompaniment.

BAPTISTERY FOR CHURCH AT MESA

COSTA MESA, March 30.—A baptistery for the administration of baptism by immersion will be added to the facilities of the new Community church building, it was stated today by the Rev. L. R. Bayard, pastor. Rapid progress is being made on the building, the studding and sheathing presenting a very fair outline of the completed structure.

Next week services will be held at the Community church at 7:30 o'clock every night but Saturday. The Rev. G. W. Brown, the Rev. Mr. Bayard and perhaps others, will speak. Thursday evening the Lord's supper will be administered, and Friday evening the Tisot pictures of the crucifixion will be seen. Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, the Epworth league members will sing. On the other nights the regular choir will sing. The Tisot pictures continue to attract many people to the Costa Mesa church. Next Sunday evening there will be seen the period in the last week of Jesus' life beginning with the Palm Sunday procession, and closing with the arrest and betrayal in Gethsemane, and the denial of St. Peter. Sunday morning the Rev. Mr. Bayard will preach a Palm Sunday sermon.

LAW GROUP MEETS

ORANGE, March 30.—Mrs. C. L. Benson presided over the meeting of the law section of the Woman's club yesterday morning at the clubhouse in the absence of Mrs. Donald Smiley, the section president. The section is studying business and protective law.

BASTANCHURY DIRECTOR OF FULLERTON C. C.

FULLERTON, March 30.—Gaston Bastanchury, wealthy orange grower of Fullerton, has been selected by the board of directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy on the board caused by the resignation of Hubert Biggs, who is now in business in Huntington Park. It was announced today, following the weekly meeting of the board at McFarland's cafe yesterday.

Bastanchury related activities during the past year of the Bastanchury ranch, the largest citrus ranch in the world, comprising more than 6000 acres of oranges. He stated that at the present time the ranch company is planning on planting from 700 to 800 acres of land owned by the Union Oil company, located within the city limits to the northeast of Fullerton. The securing of pipe line rights has prevented action on the matter to this time, he stated.

A field day is to be staged at the municipal airport April 6, it was announced today by Howard Krause, chairman of the aeronautic committee. Krause declared that several army planes from March field and ships from private airports will participate in the event, at which time it is hoped to interest the community in the development of the field and aviation in general.

Inquest Today Over Fullerton Accident Victim

FULLERTON, March 30.—An inquest was scheduled to be had this afternoon at the McAulay-Suters funeral parlors by Coroner C. D. Brown over the body of Howard C. Wilson, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Wilson, of 232 West America avenue, who died yesterday from injuries received in a fall on March 18 from the scaffolding of an apartment house under construction on West Wulshire avenue.

The boy suffered a fractured skull, his left wrist was broken and he received other injuries. He fell into an empty cement pool. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from St. Mary's church, with interment in Calvary cemetery. He is survived by his parents, a brother, Edward, 10, and two grandmothers, Mrs. Alice Mosher and Mrs. Catherine LaForce, all of Fullerton.

Musical Program Enjoyed In Orange

ORANGE, March 30.—The regular monthly meeting of the congregation of the First Christian church was held this week. Musical numbers on the program which followed the dinner were duets given by Miss Isabel and Josephine Durgan and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes and Mrs. McGill. The Rev. Mr. Meyers, a winter visitor in Orange, a retired minister of the Christian church, spoke on "Evangelism of the Older Order." The Rev. S. D. McDonald gave a resume of the fellowship campaign which was held here recently. Two piano solos were given by Robert McDonald.

Legion Post To Present Comedy Soon

GARDEN GROVE, March 30.—The American Legion auxiliary's three-act comedy, "The Colonel's Maid," will be presented in the Washington grammar school auditorium the evening of April 12, under the direction of Mrs. J. V. Kelsey.

Proceeds from the play will be used to help maintain the home for children of World war veterans, which is soon to be established here.

Those taking part in the play are Jack Fisher, of Santa Ana; T. V. Todd, Rodney Collins, Edgar Marks, Ray Johnson, Wayne Holt, Mrs. H. G. Hevener, Mrs. Lillian Thorpe and Miss Helen Knox.

ATWOOD WELL EXPECTED TO PRODUCE SOON

ATWOOD, March 30.—Chapman No. 26 on the lease where the Union Oil company brought in the great Chapman gusher, is being placed on production. Drilled to a depth of 4750 feet, it has 470 feet of perforated tubing. On a production test, the flow was uncertain, but it has made as high as 99 barrels of 16.4 gravity oil. The Standard Oil company has a new producer in Anaheim Union Water company No. 4 at a depth of 3200 feet. It is the usual low gravity oil found at this depth, 16 degrees. The well came in at around 30 barrels but is now making 75.

Locke No. 2 is drilling at 3695 feet and Yorba No. 1 at 4555 feet. They are still fishing in Yorba Linda Water company No. 1. The Caloka company is making rapid progress with Buttram No. 1, the depth now being 4380 feet.

Constitution Of P. T. A. Revised

ORANGE, March 30.—At the regular meeting here this week, the Maple street P. T. A. voted to accept a committee appointed for the purpose some time ago. Mrs. Frank Hallman, president, presided. Reports on the recent convention at Anaheim were given by Mrs. Schoenfeld and Mrs. Arch Burkett.

The first grade won the monthly prize for having the most mothers in attendance. Mesdames Ross, Short and Kuestel were appointed to act on the nominating committee for the coming election of officers. The association decided to have a silver tea at the next regular meeting on April 25. Mrs. Angus Dean was chairman of the program committee for the afternoon. Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, city librarian, gave a talk on books. Miss Bone, fifth grade teacher, rendered a group of vocal numbers. She had as her accompanist, Mrs. Leon Des Larzes.

Rig Erected For Brea Oil Project

BREA, March 30.—Rig No. 44 for the Brea Canyon Oil company is being erected by a crew from the firm of Bird and Allen, rig builders. The new location is on the hill southeast of the company's field office and access is gained by a road which leads through the former site of the Pacific Gasoline company.

SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, March 30.—Mrs. Tod Bates, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. E. M. Murray, and sister, Mrs. Ted Livingston, left Thursday for a visit with friends and relatives in Fresno. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Elberby, of Los Angeles, spent the week end in the Spanish village visiting friends. Miss Jane Cavin who is attending school in Glendale, arrived today to spend the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Cavin. Mrs. J. A. Bowles, of Central City, Neb., is visiting her son, T. C. Bowles, at his home on Calle Vista. Taylor Trumbo, newspaperman from Chicago, spent Tuesday in the city as the guest of William F. Kirchner. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Case and Tom East, of New York City, were visitors here Thursday. Mr. Case is the owner of the Algonquin hotel in New York. Mrs. George W. Ridgeway, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. Cora P. Pearl and Mrs. E. H. Carpenter formed a jolly party of visitors to the village on Wednesday.

REBEKAHS TO DINE
HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 30.—Members of the Rebekah lodge here will enjoy a dinner in Odd Fellows' hall tonight. Mrs. Grace Scott will be in charge of the affair.

PRODUCTION IN COYOTE WELLS DISAPPOINTING

BREA, March 30.—Heralded a year ago as a coming productive area of crude oil, the East Coyote hills near here seem to have registered only disappointing results. The Herndon Petroleum company, which is the pioneer well of this area and the one over which the excitement started, is now producing less than 90 barrels a day. The Holly Development company, having failed to secure oil from a deep sand, is plugging its Lehmer No. 1 back to 2340 feet from which depth drillers will attempt to get production. It is reported in the field that the General Petroleum corporation will abandon all its leases in this area, as Wallop No. 1 failed to find a productive sand after deep drilling.

ORANGE LIBRARIAN SLATED FOR SPEECH

ORANGE, March 30.—Mrs. Margaret Scott, librarian of the Orange union high school, has been chosen as one of the speakers at the meeting of the state high school principals, which is to be held in Long Beach during the Easter vacation. Mrs. Scott will speak on the High School Library Practice Class and its Pre-vocational Possibilities. Monday afternoon in the room of the Virginia hotel. Mrs. Scott has taught library classes here for nine years and declares that the course has helped a number of students through college. A number of her students are engaged in practical library work in Orange county. In the nine years of work three boys have taken the course.

START DUPLEX

ORANGE, March 30.—O. B. and F. A. Woods, recent arrivals in Orange from Wyoming, have purchased the property at the corner of Center and Sycamore streets and have begun the construction of a modern duplex on the rear of the lot. The house now standing on the front of the lot is to be remodeled.

Brea-Olinda High Scene Of Oratory

BREA, March 30.—Principal L. W. Barnett announces that the auditorium of the Brea-Olinda union high school has been chosen as the place in which the various county oratory contestants will be heard tonight. They will talk on "The Constitution."

Representatives from the high schools of Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach and Brea-Olinda will be present. Miss Winifred Barnett representing the local high school.

Prizes to local contestants will be given by the Lions club, American Legion and the Oilfields National bank.

SAN CLEMENTE FISHING PIER STARTED SOON

SAN CLEMENTE, March 30.—Work on the new fishing and pleasure pier will start in the near future, according to announcement of William A. Ayer, city engineer. Ayer states that bids for the construction work are being received and will be opened April 12. Actual work will be started soon thereafter, according to the announcement. Preliminary soundings were made for the pier some time ago and as soon as this work was completed, bids were asked on the construction work. The pier will be 1200 feet in length, of latest type construction, and will be located at the end of Avenida del Mar. This new pier will be presented to the recently incorporated city by Ole Hanson, founder.

EASTER PARTY HELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 30.—Mrs. Ray Overaker and Mrs. M. Maxey were hostesses to the H. E. O. Sunday school class of the Christian church here this afternoon. The affair was one of the regular monthly social gatherings of the class. The decorations carried out the spirit of the easter season.

PLAN CHURCH SERVICES FOR EASTER WEEK

ORANGE, March 30.—Churches of Orange are preparing for community services during Easter week the services to be held under the auspices of the Orange Ministerial union.

The first service is to be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the First Baptist church with the Rev. W. B. Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church, as the speaker. Tuesday, services will be held at the First Methodist church with the Rev. Charles H. Masten, pastor of the Baptist church, as the speaker. On Wednesday evening the usual mid-week services will take place in the various churches. Thursday, holy communion will be observed in the First Christian church with the Rev. D. S. McDonald, pastor of the church, conducting the services. Friday, the service will be held in the Colonial theater at noon. During this service the stores will be closed from 12 until 2 p. m. In the evening, "The Crucifixion" will be presented in the First Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock under the direction of Miss Mae Kimball. Friday there will also be a service in the Trinity Episcopal church from 12 until 3 p. m.

The week of special services will end on Sunday with a sunrise service on Orange Heights conducted by the Rev. Earle Pierce Cochran of the First Presbyterian church.

PUPILS PRESENT ROTARY PROGRAM

ORANGE, March 30.—A program was presented by a number of talented children at the regular meeting of the Rotarians here yesterday. The children and pupils of Holly Lash Visel, of Orange. A vocal duet was given by Billy Dick Riehl and Mary Louise Leinberger, of Tustin, a group of songs by Betty Jane Ward, of Anaheim; a reading by Faye Stinson, of Orange, and two violin selections by Helen Tannebaum, of Santa Ana. Little Miss Tannebaum was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Adolph Tannebaum, in her first number.

What Easter Means to Our Fellers!

Every feller, little or big, fat or lean, tall or short, angel or what have you, figgers on something new to wear for Easter. It's the beginning of Spring; everybody tries to take on a spring look; a feller's grin won't carry the whole Spring load.

So, Let's Look at Suits

Let's stick a leg and an arm in these new Norfoks for Spring. Yep, they've come back with a bang. Light mixtures. For 3 to 7-year-olds with two pairs of English shorts, at $10. And for 4 to 10-year-olds, with two full cut English golf pants, at $10, $12.75 and $15.

Easter Washables Verra Smart!

By . . . the . . . way . . . we have a new line of belted wash suits at $1.00; trimmed cuffs and collars to match the patterns in the pants. There's a buy for you.

KAYNEE SUITS! Now we're talking right out loud. These are the suits the fellers want for Spring. They're going to want the solid colors, too, as well as the checks, stripes, and other designs. At $1.95, $2.45 and $2.95.

English Shorts, dahn't ye know!
Palm Beaches and linens, fancy kinds, at $2 and $2.50. English Shorts in fancy wool mixtures, for 2 to 7-year-olds, at $2, $2.50 and $3.

Plus Fours

Full cut plus four English golfies in fawncy plaids and mixtures; for 5 to 16-year-olds, at $3.50 to $5. Fancy Palm Beach English golfies at $2.50 and $3.

Blouses, Shirts

Kaynee, yes, button-on blouses, with regular or sports collars; for 3 to 8-year-olds, at $1. And you know about all the man-style shirts that Kaynee make. We have 'em all.

Hats and Caps

Some ziggy new ideas; they match all these suits and things. Get under a few for a try-on.

Presbyterian Aid
North-east section members of the First Presbyterian Aid society met at the beautiful home of Mrs. George Lewis, in Tustin, Wednesday afternoon.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were Miss Mary Craig, leader; Mrs. Walter Watkins, vice leader; Mrs. George Lewis, secretary; Mrs. Clyde Back, dinner chairman; Mrs. W. W. Anderson, press reporter; Mrs. Roy Arms, flower chairman; Mrs. M. B. Youel, calling chairman.

Work for the afternoon consisted of making articles to be used in the kindergarten nursery. A social hour and refreshments brought the afternoon to a close.

The hostess committee was made up of Mrs. John Sauer, Mrs. L. L. Whitson, Mrs. Roy Arms, Mrs. Walter Watkins and Mrs. Brannon. Easter decorations and large quantities of raffle tickets, grown by the hostesses were a delightful feature.

Berean Class Party
Women of the United Presbyterian Berean Bible class spent a happy day yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dunbar on Eastside avenue, where they met for luncheon. Mrs. Dunbar served the delectable menu with the aid of several co-hostesses, at small tables grouped sociably about the pleasant rooms.

Flower-like dandelions with tall tapered all in yellow tones, lent a touch of Easter, and the spring-like motif was further accentuated by the numerous flowers arranged artistically here and there through the house.

The early afternoon hours were given over to the knitting of comforts after which Mrs. Roy Beall gave a crepe-paper craft talk, demonstrating many lovely models in party favors and home decorations, to the interest of the guests. Those enjoying the pleasant day with Mrs. Dunbar were Mesdames Anderson, Beall, Endriss, Harris, Hoskins, Hobart, Hatch, W. W. Hoy, Johnston, Kupper, Knowlton, W. Lindsey, M. Lindsay, McFadden, W. McBurney, D. McBurney,

Chinese Dinner Shared By Feminine Members Of Register Staff

Staging one of their occasional "family parties," the young women of the Register staff met last night with Miss Naomi Keller in her attractive home at 921 Lowell street, for a community dinner and an evening of bridge.

Miss Keller was assisted in welcoming her guests by her mother, Mrs. Emma Keller, and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Strommerson of Laguna Beach. Adding to the charm of the home, were clusters of peach blossoms, while for the dinner, a Chinese motif prevailed in the decorations. Chinese lamps furnished the soft light, and at each place, nuts and preserved ginger were concealed in smaller lanterns to match, all in deep orange tones, repeating the colors of the nasturtiums that centered the table.

Clever place cards in which the names were spelled in Chinese characters, had been made for the occasion, by one of the interested members of the staff, Howard Law of the circulation department where Miss Keller is employed. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Cecyl Drake, served a delicious chop suey with salad, salted rice wafers, hot poppy-seed rolls and preserved strawberries. Fragrant tea with an ice and caramel cake, completed the menu.

Bridge was played in the evening with Mrs. Marian Knight scoring high.

In the party were Miss Keller, Mrs. Keller, Mrs. Strommerson, Mrs. Cecyl Drake, Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mrs. C. Joseph Snyder, Mrs. Marian Knight, Mrs. Calvin Gilbert, Mrs. Amsel McBroom, Mrs. J. P. Adams, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Miss Louise Stephenson, Miss Catherine Lucas, Miss Helen Lutz, and Master Vincent Elliott.

Young Matron Honored By Relatives on Birthday

Arrival of the dinner hour last night in the Charles Crawford home in Tustin, brought a decided surprise to Mrs. Crawford, when a group of merry-makers arrived unexpectedly, with materials for a delicious dinner.

For yesterday was the young matron's twenty-third birthday, and her mother-in-law and sister, Mrs. E. W. Crawford and Mrs. E. C. Shoemaker, had planned the party in celebration of the event.

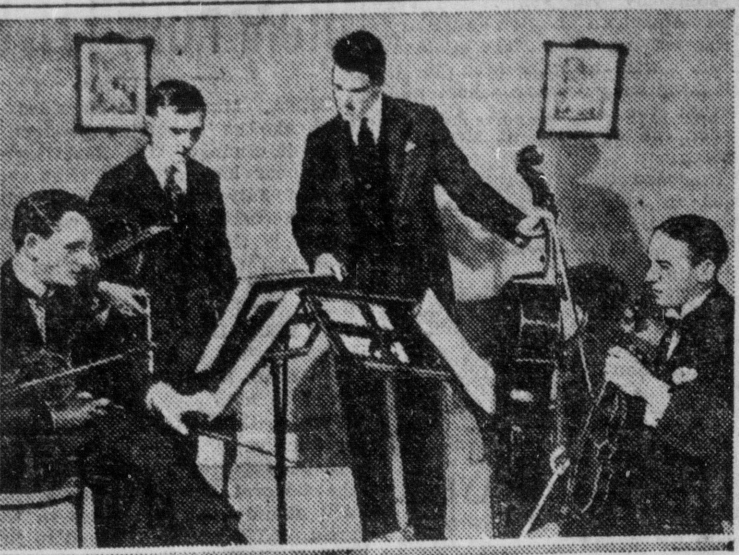

Several tables were speedily arranged, with colorful spring blossoms, for serving the birthday feast, which was followed by a friendly evening of conversation and the unwrapping of the many pretty gifts showered on the honoree.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford and their cunning baby son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shoemaker, Marjorie, Ruth Evelyn, Edward and Charles Earl Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Squires, Miss Mary Ellen Squires, Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Phillips and son Jerry, and Mrs. C. Squires.

John McAuley, W. H. McPeak, Milman, Porter, Read, Raitt, Rimal, Thompson, Scott Torrens, Warne, Walker and Warren.

CHAMBER MUSIC EXPONENTS TO PRESENT CONCERT HERE

The London String Quartet, which will be presented tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium, is composed of John Pennington, first violin; Thomas W. Petre, second violin; H. Waldo Warner, viola, and C. Warwick Evans, cello. Tickets for the concert may be secured at the Santa Ana bookstore.

The London String Quartet, famous chamber music organization which is considered by able critics to be the finest string quartet in the world, and which is to conclude the Ebell International Artist series at the concert tonight at the high school auditorium, is composed of four of the liveliest and happiest men anyone would ever want to meet, according to those who know the artists personally.

The four are typical Englishmen, all born and reared in London, and are declared to have that sporting point of view that has for centuries been associated with the English gentleman's notion of "fair play." Not one of the four ever has been known to criticize a competitor or disparage anyone's performance. But all of them believe in having a good time—and for sixteen years, they have had it.

For the London String Quartet has been organized as such, exactly sixteen years, during which it has played in practically every city of importance in the British isles, the continent and the United States and Canada.

Each member of the group is an athlete, and each one holds a number of prizes for various accomplishments. C. Warwick Evans, the cellist, for example, holds the Musician's cup in England in golf.

Birthday Party Given As Compliment to Mrs. Hilburn

Mrs. Malinda Hilburn celebrated her seventy-sixth birthday Thursday, and that afternoon a group of close friends assembled at her home, 317 West Nineteenth street, to offer their congratulations on the event, and express their friendship with many lovely flowers and gifts. To add to the interest of the enjoyable afternoon was the dainty tea menu served.

Mrs. Hilburn is a Kentuckian, but came to Santa Ana several years ago to make her home. She has a son here, T. C. Hilburn, also two other sons, the Rev. Edward L. Hilburn of Sacramento, and B. F. Hilburn of Oakland.

Those who shared her birthday with her, and expressed their friendly wishes for many more such happy anniversaries, were of Spurgeon Memorial church, the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor Mrs. Rhodes, Mrs. Elizabeth Rosemyer, Mrs. Willie Ritter, Mrs. Dora Lippold, Mrs. Sarah Dubois, Mrs. A. A. Crawford, Mrs. B. G. Metz, Mrs. Amanda Rhea, Mrs. T. W. Oglesby, Miss Rebecca Oglesby, Mrs. W. B. Blakeman, Mrs. Lillie Hamilton, Mrs. Warren Heartly and son, Leonard Eugene; Miss Pearl Hearty, Miss Mary Blakeman, Mrs. C. E. Stovall and Mrs. Icyphena Best.

Al Malaikah Temple Ceremonial on Anniversary

An approaching event of much interest to Orange County Shrine club members, is the fortieth anniversary of the founding of Al Malaikah temple in Los Angeles, which is to be celebrated with a ceremonial on the night of April 7, at 8 o'clock, in the Shrine Civic auditorium, Los Angeles.

Kenneth H. Gillette, potentate, has issued an interesting proclamation of the event, couched in the formal language of the east. In the same booklet is an informal announcement of the event, in which the potentate suggests some of the interesting things awaiting the Nobles on the night of April 7, at 8 o'clock, in the Shrine Civic auditorium, Los Angeles.

The 1928 card containing these features, also carries the lists of officers, committees and various Shrine organizations including the Al Malaikah Chapter, in which organization Robert L. Brown of this city is prominent. Joseph P. Smith, one of the past presidents of the Orange County Shrine club, is listed as the Orange county representative of Potentate Gillette.

The Orange county club is composed of local Shriners who are members of Al Malaikah temple, and functions as a social organization as well as a charitable one. H. M. Miller as 1928 president, is following the policy of his predecessors in office, Nobles D. Eymann Huff, Charles Cogan and Joseph P. Smith, by staging a series of parties in various sections of the county.

Santa Ana is to be hostess city tonight, to the Nobles and their friends, who will assemble for dancing and cards, at the Knights of Pythias hall, 424 North Broadway. Carl Mock, chairman of the special committee, and his aides from the other cities of the county, have planned special entertainment in addition to dancing and cards, and also will serve refreshments.

Santa Ana members of this committee in addition to Mr. Mock, are Nobles Charles S. Kelley, J. W. Tubbs, W. Roy George, Clyde L. Jenken, L. M. Forney, Roscoe Hewitt, Jess Goodman and John Knox.

You and your Friends

Mrs. Eliza Rankin has returned to her home at 710 South Birch street following a visit with her grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cushman of Elmore.

Here Are Jobs For Jobless

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mr. Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of Labor, tells us that we have so many labor-saving machines today, it is resulting in unemployment. Work that used to take four or five men a given time to do can now be performed by one.

We have kept one jump ahead of a bad situation because some new industry was always coming along to engage the overflow. Now it appears that the overflow is settling back to place. And what is the answer to be?

Being absolutely ignorant of economics and industrial questions, who am I to set myself up to offer a solution? But apropos of nothing, I shall quote from a letter of a friend of mine who lives not twelve miles from a city where industrial conditions are known to be very distressing:

"David and I are putting the house in the hands of an agent to sell, and going south. When we come home we'll go straight to a hotel in town and stay until time to open the cottage on the lake. David is still more than half an invalid since his pneumonia a year ago."

"Now, of course you are dying of curiosity to know why we are selling the house we've been planning for and working for years—the house David worked himself ill to get!"

"It's help! We can't get help! Not a furnace man could we find this winter, or a man to shovel walks, or to look after the car. I've had no help in the house either but that doesn't matter. I'm strong and David isn't. And spring is coming along which means grass to cut and shrubbery to look after. This place needs a man at least two days a week. Last summer we couldn't get a soul. David can't do it. So there you are."

There is something wrong somewhere. There were men certainly who would have been glad of her work. But do men hesitate because they prefer to stick at the kind of job they know, or are they not informed of such opportunities?

Couldn't there be a sort of clearing-house, an employment bureau on a big scale, that could place unemployed men where they would be willing and glad to earn money?

Farmers can't get help in the summer around the neighborhood where I live, and I believe the complaint is universal. As a nation we just don't seem to hitch up sometimes. Why is it?

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDING CLUBS FRATERNAL FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY

by AILENE SUMNER

A seventy-six-year-old Denver club woman announces that she is looking for "a perfect man." If she finds her ideal man, she will do him the favor of proposing. He must be a brunette; must be perfect in his treatment of a woman, "considerate of every whim I may have"; he must be handsome and successful and dignified.

POOR OLD SOUL!

Evidently the poor old soul hasn't learned that things are no longer as they were when she was a girl and no girl could help having a dozen suitors, he she ever so plain. The poor old lady does not know that "perfect and ideal men" are as scarce as hen's teeth, and that the supply can't begin to meet the demand and that, aside from supply and demand, men don't want matrimony as they once did when a wife was an essential of the crinolined buggy-riding era!

I hope she gets him, for any old lady of 76 who can so readapt herself to a new day as to do her own proposing, deserves to get what she wants—or thinks she wants!

PA EATS PEAS WRONG

A divorce case was heard in Cleveland the other day in which the husband and father complained that his daughters would not let him in the house when they had company and complained of the way he ate. When his wife, the plaintiff, tried to explain some of her husband's ways that embarrassed his children, the judge squelched her short and told her in so many words that a man maintaining a home by the sweat of his brow had a right to eat about as he liked in that home, and it was none of his family's business.

"IF YOU DON'T LIKE IT—"

The older generation, of course, still applaud the judge, and many a father sitting in his shirt and stocking feet just as it's time for daughter's company, will tell her, if she suggests shoes and coat, that he'll act as he likes in his own home.

Somewhat my own sympathy is with the younger set. After all, it's not such a hardship to raise one's standards of conduct and living. Though perhaps the youngsters might be more tactful about it.

"Bridge Me Another"

(Abbreviations: A—ace; K—king; Q—queen; J—jack; X—any card lower than 10.)

1—When you must lose a trick of a long suit in no-trump, is it better to give it up at the beginning or at the end?

2—Before drawing trumps, what should player endeavor to do?

3—Declarer bids one no-trump. All pass. Dummy holds A J X X. Declarer holds 9 X X; what should declarer play when opponent leads small card through dummy?

THE ANSWERS

1—At the beginning.
2—To establish a suit.
3—Small card.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

The sacks of flour squirmed on the ground, and then sat up and looked around. They spied the little Tinymites, and one sack said, "What ho! You've taken us from Slumberland. Just why, we cannot understand. Who are you funny looking men, is what we'd like to know."

Then Scouty said, "Now, have no fear. Your friend the baker sent us here. He wants you both to come to him, and we will show the way." The sacks jumped up from where they sat. One said, "Well, there's no harm in that. You lead, and we will follow."

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

William Boyd experienced his greatest thrill during the filming of "The Night Flyer," now showing at the Yost Broadway theater. Jobyna Falslon is featured as leading woman.

It occurred during the making of sequences of that picture in which the star drove a railway locomotive at a speed of 40 miles an hour. As the train sped onward, the cabin broke loose, leaving Boyd and the fireman at the mercy of the terrific winds.

Making their predicament worse, the top of the locomotive cab wedged just over Boyd's head, crashing up and down as it was whipped by the wind. At almost any minute, Boyd might have been smashed to a pulp or hurled from the speeding locomotive to certain death.

WEST END THEATER

An all-star cast supports Charlie Murray and Fred Kelsey, who play Mulligan and Garrity in "The Gorilla," the sensational mystery-comedy now showing at the West End theater.

"You'll find them in a little shop right down the road. Now all please hop and hurry back here with them, 'cause our time is getting short. We want to get this cake baked right, and finish it before it's night." And, as the Tinymites started off, they felt this was real sport.

They reached the little shop real soon, and Coppy cried, "Well, here's the spoon." And soon they found the other things, and said, "Please come along." So down the road they gaily walked, and to the new friends Scouty talked. Wee Carpy was so happy he began to sing a song.

(Clowny starts making his cake in the next story.)

MEXICANS MAY LOSE ELECTION SET FOR JULY

By GERFORD P. FINE
United Press Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, March 30.—The first months of this election year in Mexico have not served in any way to clarify the confusing political tangle growing out of the revolution of last October in which two of three presidential candidates were executed. General Alvaro Obregon presumably will be elected without opposition in July of this year and take office Dec. 1, 1928. The only thing apparently to prevent this is the possibility that President Calles may prolong his term two additional years.

The presidential term already has been changed by constitutional amendment from four to six years, with no re-election privilege and it is still a question whether Calles may not interpret the law to apply to his present term. There are many who believe he has this purpose in mind, following the example of President Gerardo Machado in Cuba.

Such a move, it is believed, would not necessarily be regarded as hostile to Obregon. The two have been allies for some years and it is considered entirely likely that both might agree that it was inexpedient for Obregon to take office at the beginning of 1929.

The fact that all effective political opposition to Obregon has been eliminated is held against him in some parts of the country. It is contended. Whether that feeling will change between now and election time remains to be seen.

In a country which has been torn with revolution for almost a score of years and which is still more or less unsettled, the possibility of a change of sentiment overnight is of course obvious. The October revolution which broke out suddenly and unexpectedly was crushed in three weeks. Even though there seems no possibility of any further rebellions of this nature for several years no one apparently can say what political changes or internal events may occur within the year that will elapse before Calles' term expires.

In general Mexico is peaceful, yet the quarrel of the government with the Catholic Church is still the motive that is keeping large numbers of rebels in the field in such states as Jalisco and Aguascalientes. While the government has insisted this region was being rapidly pacified, the reports of troubles that have drifted into the capital as well as the official accounts indicate that the rebellion there has been extensive and not yet brought under control.

War Minister Joaquin Amaro deemed this campaign of sufficient importance to take personal charge of supervising the troops there for a while and it is understood that a large part of the federal force is being concentrated in that district. Such preparations undoubtedly indicate the government's determination to force a peaceful condition but to the foreign observer they are disquieting as the nature of the country and the operations required would seem to preclude a long siege.

The arrests of Catholics in Mexico City and other large cities of the country for holding services or for violation of the law prohibiting religious schools also have added to this disquietude. There has been resentment against the government for these acts although in most cases the authorities have hastened to explain that they have no quarrel with the Catholic religion itself and that they are only enforcing the law. In many instances, also, the government has accused the priests and others arrested of fomenting rebellion against the government. Seditious literature, it is alleged, has been found in the places where worship was conducted.

Foreign Women Individualistic

NEW YORK, March 30.—European women have become more individualistic than ever before in the history of the world. M. Eugene Suter, popular hair style creator usually known only as "Eugene," said when he arrived here aboard the liner Majestic.

"American women have set the pace and European women are following closely and once in a while are spurring ahead," he said.

"The bobbed-head has come to stay, but European women are adding to the bob with ropes and curls of hair, simulating long hair. This enables each to have a hair style of her own and to individualize herself."

CONSTIPATION CAUSES NIGHTMARE DAYS

But the road to relief is simple

What a terrible thing it is to drag through the days! Dead-tired. Listless. With aching head and drooping shoulders—terrible symptoms of neglect! Yet, constipation is making life just such a round of despair for thousands of men and women. And leading to serious disease in the end.

What a pity they don't know that ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to give prompt relief—safe and easy prevention. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran—100% effective. Doctors recommend it. Two

Woman Wants To See Hanging Of Edward Hickman

SAN QUENTIN, March 30.—For the first time in the experience of Warden James D. Holohan, a woman has applied to be allowed to see an execution.

A woman whose name Warden Holohan would not divulge, wants to see William Edward Hickman hung. The request has been refused, for prison rules strictly forbade the presence of women at executions.

FEW CRIMINALS GAIN RELEASE IN U. S. COURT

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Condemned criminals get short shrift from the United States supreme court these days.

The court has adopted a policy of advancing all criminal cases, particularly capital cases, for early argument, entirely eliminating the two to three years of delay in execution that murderers many years ago obtained by the mere process of appealing to the court.

Great reluctance always has been manifested by the court, however, in overturning the death decrees of the state courts appealed from. The tale is told of a veteran judge advising a junior member of a state bench, in habeas corpus cases to "Give the public the benefit of the doubt, and keep the man in jail." That is, in a sense, how the attitude of the nine supreme court justices often results. Their reluctance to interfere with the justice of the states is marked.

Most of the great murder cases of the nation have been brought before the court in some phase. When a final judgment of death was imposed, the court almost invariably has refused to interfere. Notable among these in recent years were the appeals of Gerald Chapman, the famous mail robber executed by the state of Connecticut and the Sacco-Vanzetti case from Massachusetts.

One exception may prove the rule. That was the famous Wan murder case from the District of Columbia, in which the court reversed a gallows sentence for a young Chinese convicted of the murder of one of three members of a Chinese mission who were found slain in the mission's lodgings here.

Justice Brandeis in this case wrote a historic opinion, denouncing the third degree methods of starvation and torture to which the police had subjected the young defendant. The killer never has been found. Wan was tried again, but the jury disagreed and he was released after seven years in prison.

Chapman unsuccessfully contended that the state could not punish him for alleged murder of a Connecticut man in a holdup until he finished a 20-year sentence in Atlanta, which he was serving when the state began its prosecution.

In the Sacco-Vanzetti case, three members of the highest court during the court's summer recess, held that this body had no jurisdiction to interfere. The higher Massachusetts judicial courts decided, provided all legal recourse of the defendants and the fish peddler who charged the trial judge, Webster Thayer, with unfairness. They were executed for the murder of a paymaster in a holdup.

One of the most picturesque cases was that of Vuco Perovich, whose argument was in some ways the reverse of Gerald Chapman's. Perovich, ignorant Montenegrin, was convicted of murder in Alaska and sentenced to hang. On petition of the United States attorney, the jurors, and others who believed some doubt as to his guilt had arisen. President Taft commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. Perovich served nearly 20 years and obtained an education. Then he challenged the right of the president to commute the sentence. He argued that "life was worse than death" and that Taft's act violated the constitutional prohibition against increasing punishment. He also argued that the commutation was imposed without his consent. A Kansas federal judge freed him from Leavenworth, and he established a barber shop in New York City.

The government, however, appealed the case, and the supreme court reversed the Kansas judge, holding that a prisoner had no discretion in such a situation. It was also ruled that life imprisonment was not worse than death. President Coolidge provided a happy ending with a pardon to the barber.

MILLIONS FAIL DEFENDANTS IN COURT TRIALS

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Millionaires, former officials and other public men convicted of crimes almost invariably appeal to the United States supreme court, although the high court almost always has upheld the judgment of the lower courts.

Noted cases in which appeals were unsuccessfully resorted to in attempts to escape jail sentences in recent years include those of Governor Warren McCray of Indiana, Veterans Bureau Director Forbes, Earl Carroll, the theater man, Former Warden Sartain of Atlanta penitentiary, George Remus, millionaire bootlegger, Gaston B. Means of Teapot Dome fame, and Nicky Arnstein.

An appeal by Former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller is now before the court. Harry F. Sinclair, the oil magnate, and Former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall failed in attempts to get the court to review validity of criminal indictments against them. Two more appeals by Sinclair from convictions and jail sentences, one for contempt of court in jury-shadowing, and one for contempt of the senate, will be brought here if the appellate courts reject his plea.

Other famous cases considered by the court in earlier years met similar lack of success. These include the appeals of the McNamara brothers, convicted of bombing a Los Angeles newspaper, Thomas Mooney, convicted in a Labor day bombing in San Francisco, the men convicted of the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho murders who were prosecuted by William E. Borah, then a young prosecuting attorney, and the Maymay-anarchists of Chicago.

Two phases of the Harry Thaw litigation which enlivened newspaper front pages for two decades came before the highest court, and in both instances, Thaw won. The court did not consider, however, the conviction of the young multimillionaire for the murder of Stanford White, internationally known architect. One appeal was that of an attorney for fees, and the other was Thaw's resistance of an attempt to remove him from Pennsylvania to New York, following his flight to Canada from a New York asylum.

McCray, Forbes, Carroll, Sartain, Remus, Means and Arnstein all failed to get past the first door to the supreme court. Their appeals for a review, which includes argument of their cases and full discussion of legal points involved, were denied, after the court had inspected the briefs setting forth their grounds for review.

There are occasional highlights in this grim part of the court's work. A story is told of one Nebraska man, convicted of murder and sentenced to hang, who escaped from the state prison after the court had granted him a review. The court, issued a solemn order, decreeing that if he did not give himself up by a certain date, he would be penalized by dismissal of the writ. The writ was dismissed, and the murderer never has been caught.

In another case, court officials asked an Arkansas sheriff for a certificate attesting the death in jail of a condemned man, so that his case could be formally dismissed by the court. The sheriff duly returned an affidavit that the man was "dead and buried in Arkansas sod, beyond the jurisdiction of Arkansas courts and the supreme court of the United States." The court accepted the sheriff's dictum on its jurisdiction at least to the extent of dismissing the case.

The court on one occasion held a breath-taking session on an appeal for a review and a stay of execution, in the hour before the execution in San Francisco. This was the celebrated Durant case, in which a Sunday school superintendent was convicted of murdering two little girls in a church tower, where their bodies were found several weeks later. The court denied the stay as the condemned man waited by the scaffold, just 20 minutes before the execution time.

Esthonia's Native Dress Disappears

TALLINN, Aeval, March 30.—Because Estonia's farmerettes are busy learning the Charleston and other modern dances, the picturesque and multicolored national costumes which they used to make are gradually disappearing from the country.

Silk stockings and short modern skirts are fast replacing the clothes (designed centuries ago by their ancestors) which women farmers used to wear.

Even up to 20 years ago both men and women here used to wear gorgeous-colored clothing reminiscent of European styles in vogue during the Middle Ages. Designs were distinctly Slavonic, and the colors were as brilliant as those seen at any exhibition of modern paintings.

Almost all costumes were made by those who wore them. Since jazz bands and modern dances made their appearance in Estonia, however, the evenings, which girls formerly spent at home sewing, have been spent with teachers of modern dances.

TALBERT

TALBERT, March 30.—The Boy Scout troop met Monday evening at the Fountain Valley school for the usual weekly gathering and this week the boys learned how to put on bandages, being instructed in this first aid measure by their Scoutmaster, J. J. Woodson. Plans for an outing trip to be held next week at a point near Orange County park were made, the boys and the scoutmaster to go up Monday taking camping equipment along for an over-night stay and return home on Tuesday, the opening of spring vacation allowing of the plans.

Preparations for the Easter program are under way. Mrs. Anna Helm, superintendent of the Sunday school, being in charge of the program.

The local Epworth league plans on carrying out the same plans for an Easter Sunday sunrise service as was observed last year, Orange County park again being selected, the service to be held on Reservoir hill.

John Cozina and family moved this week from the Jacob Cozina ranch, where they have been residing with Mr. Cozina's parents, to the Dinsmore ranch, which he has leased. He will farm his father's 40 as well as the Dinsmore 40 acres.

Earl Lamb is running to succeed himself as director of the Fountain Valley school district and his name is the only one which comes up for election at the polls next Friday.

The local election board will be composed of Mrs. J. J. Woodson, Mrs. Charles Preston and Mrs. Anna Helm.

Mrs. Black, who owns a ranch in Talbert district, and her daughter, Mrs. Georgia Kindle Black, of Los Angeles, visited here Monday. Mrs. Black is having an electric motor installed at her ranch.

Mrs. E. Fowler was a Monday visitor in the home of Mrs. David Jesse.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert, Mrs. M. L. Thurman and Rose and Violet Rogers motored to Whittier Sunday and were visitors in the home of Mrs. Talbert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Pettit, and of their niece, Mrs. Walter Kerr.

Orville Shrode, of Oceanside, visited Sunday in the home of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vashart and family left the last of the week for Imperial, where they will locate on their ranch near Holtville, which they left four years ago when they moved to their local ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Vashart were accompanied by Mr. Vashart's brother, Leon Vashart, who recently arrived from Switzerland and they expect to remain in the valley a year. The Talbert ranch is leased to men who will raise pimientos.

S. E. Talbert, of this place, and his brother, Tom Talbert, of Huntington Beach, were guests at a family dinner observing their birthday anniversaries, the dinner being given at the home of their sister, Mrs. Irwin, at Orange County park. About 30 relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Proctor, of Huntington Beach, former local residents, were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Jesse.

The marriage of Miss Eme Kozina, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kozina, of Talbert, to a Mr. Knight, of Laguna Beach, took place last week. Mr. and Mrs. Knight are now located in that city.

Miss Helen Ban accompanied Santa Ana friends to Long Beach Sunday evening and attended the final service of the Gypsy Smith evangelistic meetings.

The secret of fine candy-making and the roasting of Hills Bros Coffee depend upon the same rule

When the recipe calls for the hot syrup to be beaten into the egg whites, you add the syrup a little at a time. Then the candy is smooth as velvet. When Hills Bros. roast their coffee, they roast only a few pounds at a time by their patented, continuous process, and as a result secure a flavor and uniformity that no other roasting method can create.

This exact process of roasting is Hills Bros.' exclusively. They originated it, also the famous vacuum pack which seals in every bit of the exhilarating aroma and satisfying flavor. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Write for free copy of "The Art of Entertaining." Address Hills Bros., Dept. 226, 2 Harrison St., San Francisco, Calif.

LOS ALAMITOS

LOS ALAMITOS, March 30—Mrs. Rose Kain, of Howard street, has given plans to a contractor for a five room modern house to be built on her property on Farquhar street. W. O. Backus is the contractor and work is to start soon.

Mrs. Ernest Campbell, of Green street, was taken to a hospital in Long Beach Saturday with a serious illness.

Mrs. O. Todkill was severely injured in an automobile accident Friday as she and Mr. Todkill and his sister were driving to Los Angeles. The women were taken to the Artesia hospital and Mrs. Todkill was treated for several broken ribs and bruises.

The benefit tea given by the finance committee of the Community church drew a large crowd Thursday afternoon at the auditorium. Edwin A. Kain submitted to the sixth operation on his hand for infection, Wednesday morning, as a result of his fall from a 32-foot tower seven weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. William Armfield were hosts at a dinner served at their home on Howard street Sunday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Reid and daughter, Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Alden and family, of Maywood, and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ort, of Virginia City.

Mrs. Pauline Young is home from the hospital and is reported improving.

Folger's—the favorite for years in countless homes

By Mary Dowd Reardon, Noted Food Engineer

"THIS is Folger's, isn't it?" women ask me frequently at gatherings where I serve coffee.

On being told that it is they so often remark, "I never use anything else," or "I have used Folger's for over 20 years," or "years ago we started on Folger's and the family has been satisfied ever since."

Matchless Folger-Flavor has won these families as it won me—on its richly delicate taste and its uniformity—always the same any time you buy it!

If you are not familiar with Folger-Flavor you will enjoy this interesting little test:

Buy a can of Folger's Coffee today. Drink Folger's tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. I know you, too, will distinguish the marked difference there is in Folger-Flavor.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

POLICE PROBE INTO SHOOTING OF MESA MAN

Police officers are investigating the circumstances surrounding the bullet wound received at 7:40 o'clock last night at Costa Mesa by Earl Churchill, 20, an employee of G. E. Arbogast and also Arbogast's next door neighbor.

According to Churchill's story to police officers, Arbogast has been annoyed on several occasions by mysterious knocks on the front door and windows. The prowler always was gone when members of the family went to the door, Churchill said. Last night, he said, he climbed onto the garage in the rear of the Arbogast home to watch for the prowler. Soon a short man wearing a sweater made his appearance and when he saw Churchill, he fired a gun at him, Churchill told officers. Churchill said that the first shot hit him in the right shoulder and the second went by his head. He immediately went to his home, got his revolver and chased the prowler, Churchill said.

Officers say that a 22 calibre rifle was found in the Churchill home, with one cartridge exploded. Officers said that the bullet taken from Churchill's shoulder fitted the shell in Churchill's own gun.

SCHOOL VACATION TO START MONDAY

Harassed students at the Santa Ana high school and junior college who have hardly been able to wend their way through the forest of examinations, reference work, and review work of the past week, are beginning to see a light ahead.

Tomorrow afternoon when classes are dismissed these students will be freed from their scholastic burdens for an entire week.

As the quarter's work has been completed there will not be even any lessons to prepare for April 9 on which day school will begin again.

The sun is shining. The flowers are blooming in the mountains. The warm waves lap upon the shores of Orange county's beaches. There are new books at the library—There will be nothing to do but enjoy life.

FAMED AUTO RACER GETS LICENSE HERE

Dave Lewis, famed auto racer and one time mechanic of Ted Tetzlaff, another well known racer, who resides in Santa Ana, applied for a marriage license in this city yesterday. The woman whom he is to marry is Miss Laura Lamb. Both Lewis and Miss Lamb are of Los Angeles. He is 46 years of age and she is 31.

Before he made a name for himself as a racer, Lewis spent several years with Tetzlaff who now resides at 1010 1-2 North Ross street.

While he and Miss Lamb were in Santa Ana they called on Mr. and Mrs. Tetzlaff who have kept up their friendship during the years since Tetzlaff and Lewis have both retired from the racing game.

Lewis is now employed in Los Angeles as a motor mechanic.

Being the largest retail meat dealers west of the Mississippi gives us a great buying power. Therefore, we are able to offer you the low prices quoted, which every economical housewife should strive to take advantage of by visiting any one of our Safeway operated markets.

Why we want to sell
One Hundred Million Dollars worth of Foods during 1928

Our sales for 1927 exceeded $78,000,000.00. We have set $100,000,000.00 as our goal for 1928. Why? Largely so that we may offer you even greater savings. As sales increase—in a properly managed business—the cost of selling decreases.

Greater sales mean greater buying—power, busier stores, busier sales people and less waste at no additional cost. Much of these savings are passed on to you in the form of lower prices. So you, too, will benefit by helping us to attain our goal.

OLD TRANSPORT OF U. S. TAKES LAST JOURNEY

By CHARLES V. KINTER
United Press Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—The transport Thomas is "beached"—her captain relieved of his post.

The decks of the old United States army transport which for 30 years have echoed with the tread of America's defenders, are destined to remain silent except for the occasional scamper of a half-starved rat.

Even George, colored porter who for 28 years has called the Thomas home, has been ordered to another ship.

Members of the crew—terms of service among them of 15 years are not at all uncommon—are being transferred to other transports or assigned to other duties.

Having completed her 105th journey between Manila and San Francisco, the Thomas was branded by officers of the army transport service as too expensive to operate. She has plied the seven seas and has put in at practically every major world port.

"The Thomas is an old boat. It is a coal burner and therefore more expensive to operate than the modern oil burners. It is still perfectly safe and seaworthy, however," one official stated.

The Thomas was built in Belfast, Ireland, in 1894 by a British company. It was christened the Minnakosta and was used as a cattle boat until purchased and fitted for active service by the United States government in 1898.

Under the Stars and Stripes, the Thomas first saw service carrying troops between New York and Cuba during the Spanish-American war. In 1900 the Thomas was sent from New York to Manila by way of the Suez canal. Since that time the craft has been used principally in the Manila to San Francisco journey.

In August, 1917, the Thomas left Manila for San Francisco with officers and men of the Eighth Infantry.

"We started out for Frisco with two generals on board and ended with five. They were given their promotions by wireless," a member of the crew who had been assigned to the crew for 15 years commented.

On this same trip the Thomas encountered a typhoon south of Formosa.

"We were tossed about for five days," an old salt explained. "The boat struck some rocks on the bottom while passing over a shallow area and was in dry dock in Japan for six days as a result."

In 1920 the Thomas carried 2300 Czechs from Vladivostok to Trieste. The men were mostly prisoners taken by the Russian armies during the war. Sixteen hundred immigrants were brought from Naples to New York by the Thomas in the same year.

The Thomas is a sturdy craft. It measures 455 feet long and has a gross tonnage of 7700. It carries 240 persons first class and can transport 1500 troops. The crew at full strength averages 204.

FACTORS MALTHUS DIDN'T CONSIDER

The national industrial conference board stated in a report some time ago that there was a reduction in the consumption of meat and wheat per capita in the United States. The survey which had been undertaken brought forth the fact first of ten per cent per capita reduction in meat consumption and twenty per cent in wheat flour. The survey made was for meat from the years 1907 and for wheat flour from 1899 to 1923. These figures are really of tremendous significance. They are due in part, so these "surveyors" said, to mechanical devices which conserve the energy of human beings and the fashions, on the other hand, which have decreed slim, not to say skinny figures.

This process is undoubtedly still continuing. Any one whose powers of observation are keen has noticed how sparingly many people eat at a banquet and almost none eat as freely or gorge themselves as was done not very many years ago. Indeed a "banquet" as a rule now does not consist of the quantity of food in any particular course or the great number of courses that it formerly had. We refer to this because it is public evidence of the reduction in food consumption. Diet is the order of the day, it seems, with a great proportion of the whole population. The gustatory nerve is not the only factor which governs in food consumption. The brains of the individual are actually being brought to bear on the problem. The development of devices conserving human energy, it is very evident, has a direct bearing upon the necessary food supply. One who labors at heavy and difficult physical tasks needs and consumes a larger quantity of food than one who is not so engaged. The relief from drudgery and heavy labor and the farm and factory and kitchen saves a tremendous amount of energy which has been supplied heretofore through food consumption, which food is now released to a larger population for better living conditions. This logically means and unquestionably will fully mean that a much larger population can be supported on the same acreage today than could fifty years ago, saying nothing about the advances in the way of the increase in productivity of land through the developments of our schools of agriculture and the more intelligent uses of moisture and fertilizer.

According to these figures, there would be an average percentage of decrease in wheat flour and meat of fifteen per cent per capita. This, if it held good for all products, would enable one sixth more of the population to be supported under the same land than the land would support under the conditions thirty years ago, and this making no allowance for the larger crops available. It is entirely possible by these two factors working together that in the same territory the population may be doubled.

LLOYD GEORGE AGAIN TO THE TOP

Very striking news comes from London. It concerns that able, interesting, striking and yet shifty personality David Lloyd George. This news is to the effect that this coming year will show an alliance between him and his Liberal party with the leaders of the Conservative party. It is expected that the Conservatives will be defeated in 1929 and that the Liberals will undoubtedly win many votes, but that the Labor party will unquestionably be the second, if not the first party, in England. The chances are believed to be favorable, however, to the Conservative party still holding the leadership. But the Conservative will not have the power. They will not have the majority and this will give the opportunity for Lloyd George. He can join with the Labor party and defend the majority or with the Conservative party and give the majority to it. A recent conference between him and Lord Rothermere has resulted in the prediction that Lloyd George is to cut out his flirtations with the Labor party, which he has been carrying on for several years, and the Liberals will in turn again elect him prime minister.

The Labor party has never taken Lloyd George in with open arms, or seriously followed his advice. Ramsey McDonald has constantly been coy in these flirtations of Lloyd George and this ability to join with either side anywhere indicates the wisdom of McDonald's course. This vacillation in any other statesman in England would ruin him. But it does not appear to affect the reputation of the little Welshman. In fact that is his reputation, that is Lloyd George. He can bend, as Wendell Phillips spoke of another politician, like the marvelous Damascus blade, but unlike the blade, he will boast and prove to an audience that he never bent at all.

A CRIMINAL IS A CRIMINAL

We have had great admiration for Senator Walsh in his investigation of the oil scandal, but we are losing it fast as we note his anxiety over the reputation of Democrats in relation to oil leasing history. It would suggest that his animus in this investigation has not been to uncover rascality and clean up public life but rather to "get the goods" on the Republicans.

If these are the motives, the motives are little better than those which prompted the crookedness in the beginning. Patriotism should know no party lines. Borah represents the spirit of the patriot. Walsh's attitude does not. Rascality is not partisan. Crookedness knows no party line. As President Roosevelt said, a man who violates the law is not a Republican law-breaker or a Democratic law-breaker but he is a criminal and a good Republican or a good Democrat is not a criminal. The cloak of the party should not be thrown around a criminal for either the criminal's protection or the party's dishonor.

We sincerely hope that the anxiety that Senator Walsh has for Democrats will not prevent him from doing his full duty in all the premises.

A TEST OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

The Los Angeles Municipal Water bureau has evolved a plan to finance the entire bill of damages to life and property involved in the St. Francis disaster amounting to millions of dollars. The expense is to be met by short term notes with the revenues of the bureau pledged as security. The plan will involve an increase of water rates in the city of Los Angeles. The bureau takes the position that the dam and reservoir were essential parts of the city's water system and while it might be that the city of Los Angeles as a whole was legally responsible, the bureau itself desired to meet the expense.

This is an interesting experiment and we believe it is the first time a publicly owned public utility has been put to such a test. What is more fitting after all than those who are direct beneficiaries of the water system, that the users of water should bear the burdens incident upon the furnishing of the water? If the bureau can stand the test with the help of the Los Angeles banks, it will be a signal example of the efficiency of public ownership of the water and power system and a tribute to the right thinking and courage of the management.

ADVENTURING FOR SILENCE

We have not the confidence of Colonel Lindbergh. One day we read that he is seeking a spot where he can be absolutely alone. He wants silence, great gulfs of it. He wants to meditate. He desires to flee from the presence of every human being. We look for his trusty machine headed for the north pole, or the Himalaya mountains. The next day we read that he may be planning a non-stop flight from San Diego to Tokyo and if this be the case he surely is not headed for Tokyo for the purpose of avoiding the crowd. We anticipate, if he should land in Japan, there would be few short of a million of enthusiastic little yellow men who would endeavor to grasp the hand or at least catch a glimpse of the intrepid flyer.

It may be, however, that he is taking this trip in order to be alone during the hours of the flight. He will accomplish the two purposes in one. He will make the hop and enjoy his solitude. If this be his reason, the mobs should receive considerable credit for chasing Colonel Lindbergh out of America. Why can the people of America not leave him alone awhile, so that he can enjoy himself without such an adventure?

A HAPPY MISTAKE

A man returned to consciousness in a hospital in New York City after he had been hit on the head with a flat iron by a Negro. He was handed a paper containing his own death notice and the record of the Negro being charged in the police court with man-slaughter for having killed him. On investigation it was found that his body and another man's had been exchanged while he was unconscious and the other man was dead. His greatest wish was that the exchange had taken place just before the Negro hit him. And the Negro was happy that the man's head was as hard as it was.

OUR CHILDREN

TEACHING COURAGE

"I'm going to build a garage for father," said Don. High purpose shone in his baby face and he gripped a three inch spade with sturdy strength.

"Well, well, I'm sure your father would be very pleased and proud if you did. Where did you think of making it?"

"Right here where the flower bed is."

"Wouldn't that be rather near the house? It might shut off the view of the walk and you wouldn't see father turn in at the gate."

"No, well, I could just as well put it in the back." "That would be fine. Fit it into that corner over there."

Don bent to his digging. In ten minutes he had quite a perspiration and he succeeded in making a hole about five inches deep and of irregular bowl shape. He laid his spade against the wall and wiped his wet brow with his sleeve. Mother came to the back door.

"I have a drink for you. All good workmen have to have a drink." "Is it cold, mother?" "Fine and cold and there's lemon in it and orange and sugar."

The workman answered the call of the thirsty and rested a while. By and by he said, "I'll have to go back to work now."

"Very well, but of course you won't have to finish it all today. Just make a good start," said mother.

The hole in the corner of the garden that was to grow into a garage for father gave happy employment to Don for hours and hours. All his play time for a month of pleasant weather went into the dream of that building. He gathered stones and piled them ready for the walls. He brought bits of lumber, scraps of tin, and a heap of sand. "I'll need this by and by," he would say gravely, and carry home some treasure from the vacant lot.

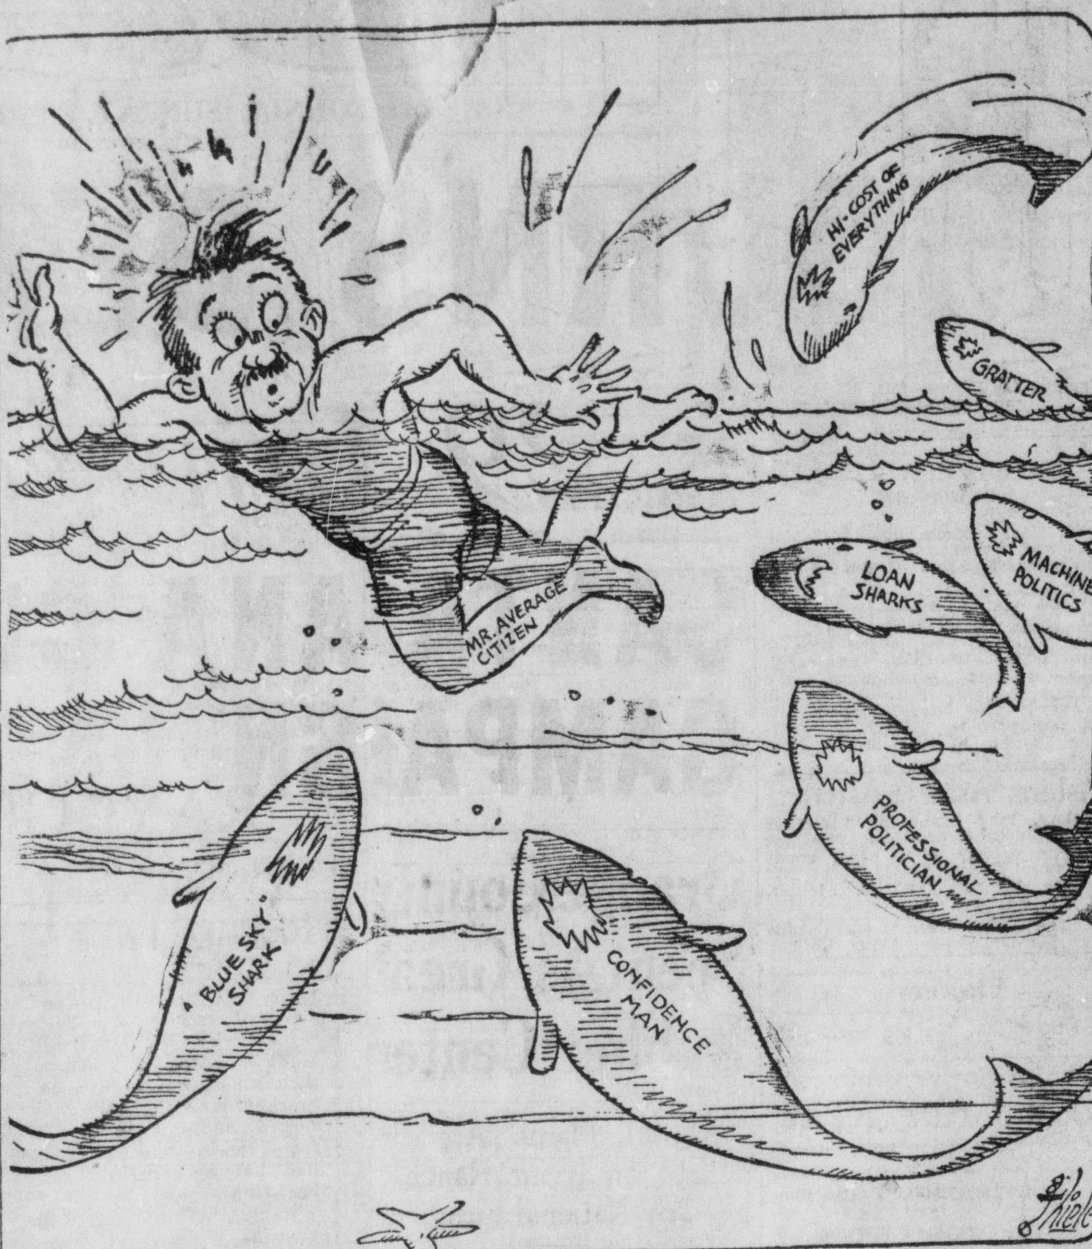

One day something directed his attention to a lily pool and in a trice the garage became a lovely pool where frogs were to sing and water lilies bloom. Countless pails of water went into the hole. Some sad buttercups offered up their lives in the service, lilies being scarce. I cannot tell you how many changes that garage underwent nor how much pleasure and profitable work went into it. With each idea the lad strengthened his courage and his faith and his body. He grew up with this messy corner.

"I wish you could do something to hide that corner Don plays in," said the next door neighbor who had no children and so couldn't know how lovely that corner truly was. "Why doesn't he learn that he can't do the things he wants to do there and quit?"

"O, dear me, don't mention such a thing," said his mother. "He does them as far as four years could be expected to do them. He sees success in the very thing we call a mess. He loved his lily pool. He thought his work was growing nicely. He says it takes time to build a garage and there is more to do than he thought, but he'll get there. I want him to have courage in his work. I'll make a screen of lattice and some privet bushes about his corner. That's where he learns courage."

Do Sharks Like White Meat?—Ask Us Another

More Truth Than Poetry
By James J. Montague

THE HEN TRIUMPHS
When science, by means of the violet ray
Which emitted long luminous streaks,
Had assisted the indolent biddy to lay
An egg every day for two weeks;
Men opened their mouths in a gape of surprise
As they heard of this magic appliance
And cried with a wondering look in their eyes:
"What a marvelous thing is this science!"

The hens, we presume, were a little dismayed
For the future loomed gloomy and drear
When they glanced at the nest full of eggs they had laid
And thought of the chicks they must rear.
You would think that their tails they'd indignantly swish
And emitting a soul weary groan
Express a loud and blasphemous wish
That science would let them alone.

Yet one of their number, unnoted by men,
As she sat on her henry shelf
Determined to prove what a single lone hen
Could do by her unaided self.
Without any boosting by loud sizzling coil
Or spiralling violet ray,
She gave herself up to laborious toil
And lo! she laid two eggs a day.

Far be it from us to belittle the stunts
That the great men of science have done;
We think that the world should accord them at once
The credit they ably have won.
Their coming achievements no voice nor no pen
Can with any assurance predict,
But we're bound to admit that we think even then
That nature will still have them licked!

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk
By Dr. Frank Crane

QUICK WORK
Harry B. Hopkins attempted to hold up an oil station attendant the other morning in Detroit.

The attendant grappled with him and eventually turned him over to the police.

The criminal was taken to court and identified by the attendant and by two other station keepers. All three swore that Hopkins was the man who had forced them to hand over money at the point of a gun.

He was sentenced for a term of from 15 to 30 years in the State prison at Jackson by Judge Sample within three hours after his attempted holdup.

This item should be put on the front page of all newspapers. Occasionally our courts do function and justice is meted out swiftly.

And it is expeditious and untechnical justice that registers. We do not need any great punishment of prisoners, we do not need to flog them or give them solitary confinement, or hang them, or otherwise hurt them. This only inbrutes them and does no good except to satisfy our vengeance.

What they need is swift justice. Every lawyer calls himself an officer of the court, whether for the prosecution or defense, and he ought to assist that court in quickly arriving at his decision.

Every criminal strives to delay the judiciary proceedings. It is the delay and the pettifogging lawyers that he counts upon.

Much time and money was spent in the case of Hickman, the California murderer, when everybody knew he was guilty and he himself had confessed it.

Let justice be swift and sure and its aims would be subverted.

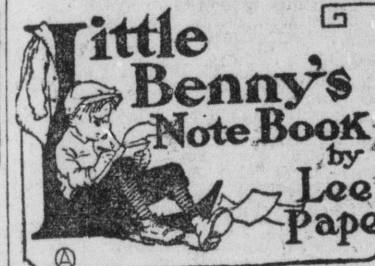

What the criminal fears is not brutal punishment, but quick punishment.

The object of any judicial punishment is two-fold: to correct the prisoner and to protect society. Certainly, more prisoners would be deterred from wrong doing by quick punishment, and in the former case, quick punishment would be much more liable to improve the criminal than excessive punishment, which would only inbrute him and turn him out of a prison a worse menace to society than before.

We have got past the time when in civilized countries we torture prisoners. All punishment that is brutal and hideous only debauches the public mind.

Let justice be swift and sure and its aims would be subverted.

TOMORROW—THE ENVELOPING PURPOSE.

Last nite ma was at the movies with my sister Gladdis, and pop was reading a book with a red cover called The Merder in Room 52, saying, Yee gods, this is no book for an honest man to read before going to bed, the cold shivers are doing the dance of death up and down my spine, but the darn thing is so intristing I can't put it down. O well, I think I'll go downstairs and see that everything is locked up before I forget.

With he did, and I went to bed on account of having to, and when I got up in my room I had a idee, and I got a long peecce of string out of my desk draw and snuck downstairs agen an diled one end of it on the outside of the living room doorknob and carried the other end back upstairs, and pop got through locking up the downstairs windows and came up to the living room agen and went in without touching the string, lucky for me, and I herd the pages of the book turning over, proving he was reading agen, and I waited a little while to give him time to get nerviss agen, and then I gave the string a fearse yank and the living room door went shut bang, and then it quick opened agen on account of pop opening it, saying, Now how the dooce did that happen, theres not a breth of wind stirring, its incredible, yee gods, I thawt I was shot.

And he left the door open and I herd the pages tern agen and pritty soon I gave another jerk and the door went shut bang agen and quick opened agen, pop saying, Is this house haunted or am I going bugs? Hello wats this? he sed. Meaning the string falling across his feet on account of me axpidently leaving go of it, and pop came running upstairs to my room, only by the time he got there I was in bed with the covers pulled up as if I thawt I was asleep, and he took one slipper off of one foot and started to give me fearse slaps with it, saying things with each slap such as, The sleep of the innocent, plezant dreams, dont let me disturb your childish slumbers, take this fairy slipper and play with it in dreamland.

Not herting mutch enyways on account of me still being all dressed including my pants.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

A NOTE ON RADICALS

If the world were populated by radicals alone, there would be only two days in the calendar—May first and October first—for every day would be moving day.

There would be no breathing-spells in which to consolidate the gains of the last move.

Woodrow Wilson once wrote a few paragraphs that should be pasted in the radical's scrap-book, viz:

"Movement has no virtue in itself.

"Change is not worth while for its own sake. If a thing is good today, I should like to have it stay that way tomorrow. Most of our calculations in life are dependent upon things staying the way they are.

"It would seem a waste of time to point out that ancient distinction between mere change and improvement. Yet there is a class of mind that is prone to confuse them.

"We have had political leaders whose conception of greatness was to be forever doing something—it mattered little what restless, vociferous men, without sense of the energy of concentration, knowing only the energy of succession.

"Now, life does not consist of eternally running to a fire.

"There is no virtue in going anywhere unless you gain something by being there.

"The direction is just as important as the impetus of motion.

"Progress, development—these are modern words.

"The modern idea is to leave the past and press onward to something new.

"But what is progress going to do with his past, and with the present? How is it going to treat them? With ignominy or respect? Should it break with them altogether, or rise out of them, with its roots still deep in the older time?"

"I believe, for one, that you cannot tear up ancient rootages and safely plant the tree of liberty in soil which is not native to it.

"I believe that the ancient traditions of a people are its ballast; you cannot make a tabula rasa upon which to write a political program.

"You must knit the new into the old."

This is bad reading for the conservative, for it is likely to strengthen him in his fatal tendency to blind reaction.

It is good reading for the radical, for it suggests to him the importance of being progressive about something important, rather than being just progressive.

Etiquette During Earthquakes

New York Times

Having learned to expect great things on all occasions from Ambassador Morrow at Mexico City, the public would naturally have assumed that whatever he did during the earthquake Thursday was correct. It is very probable that his bearing was calm, sensible and prudent. But the newspapers are in dispute as to just what it was, and so it is going to be difficult for his imitators to make up their minds if they should ever feel the earth swaying beneath them.

The Associated Press said that Mr. Morrow was chatting when the temblor came, and, after a slight pause, resumed his conversation and did not leave the room. The World's Bureau describes the Ambassador as walking to the door of the room, poised, one assumes, for flight into the open "flight seemed necessary. Since The World in personal matters relating to Mr. Morrow is almost official, the inclination is to believe this version until it is perceived in The Herald Tribune that the Ambassador did something very different. He "stepped into the interior garden in the Embassy precincts," that is, into the patio. That certainly is what most of us would have done, though hero-worship makes us value The Associated Press picture of the intrepid man and his visitor just going on chatting while plaster rained upon them.

At any rate, the worst that happened to the Ambassador was a crack in his bedroom wall.

Some time ago a local organization got up a set of rules for New Yorkers as to just what to do if an earthquake came. "Open your window and stand quietly," was one of them. "Yeah?" was the comment of five hundred thousand stenographers.

Guy Wilson was painfully injured when the horse on which he was riding at Durant and Seventeenth streets became frightened at a passing automobile and reared, falling backwards on the rider.

Time to Smile

GREAT STUFF

THEATER MANAGER: Good house again. There's nothing like real crook stuff to send up box-office receipts. What have we taken tonight?

CASHIER: Can't say. Someone's just come in and lifted the safe.—Punch.

TOO LATE NOW

HILDA: I've always had a presentiment that I should die young.

THELMA: Well, my dear, you didn't, after all, did you?—Answers.

THROW HIM OUT

BUSY BUSINESS MAN: Can't you read? The sign on that door means private.

CANVASSER: I know—and I'm glad it's there. If there's anything I hate it's being interrupted when I'm talking to a prospective customer.—Answers.

A LONG TIME

MASTER OF HISTORY CLASS: (to pupil who has just returned after absence through illness) I'm glad to see you back, Timpkins; you will have a lot of leeway to make up. How long have you been away?

TIMPKINS: Since William the Conqueror landed, sir.—Passing Show.

NO SIRREEEEEEE

Johnny, six, was told he had to go to the hospital to have his tonsils removed and his mother was bolstering up his morale.

"I'll be brave and do just what you tell me, mother," he promised, "but I bet they don't palm off a crying baby on me like they did on you when you were in the hospital!"—Tit-Bits.

—AND FAILED

"Fancy letting your wife go about telling neighbors she made a man of you. You don't hear my wife saying that."

"No, but I heard her telling my wife she had done her best!"—Tit-Bits.

THAT AWFUL SLIP

"And will you love me as much as this when we are married?"

"Darling, how can you doubt me? I've always like married women best!"—Tit-Bits.

NOTHING NEW

Outside the storm raged. The thunder rolled and lightning flashed almost continuously.

Presently a bolt struck Mr. Jones and knocked him out of bed. He rose, yawning, rubbed his eyes, and said:

"All right, dear, I'll get up."—Tit-Bits.

AND LITTLE ELSE

ARCHIBALD: I live in the country now. It's terribly dull there.

FLORENCE: It must be. What do you miss most?

ARCHIBALD: The last train for home.—Answers.
